South Bend defeated Marion in a tame losing game yesterday by a score of 5 to 2 and thereby caused Jack Grim's "tail drivers" to take a tumble from the top of the Central league ladder. The Greens instantly made themselves a little more solid with the fans and allowed the official who keeps the percentage tables to place the Greens in a position for advancement into fifth place.

Yesterday's victory was a repetition of the late-raiding finishes which the Greens have been making since the "old soldiers" from Dayton, O., left the city and consequently several hundred spectators who witnessed the stubbornly fought game were compelled to go through every stage of that awful attempt "baseball heart disease." The game was a fight from the start and all the baseball that was in the two teams was brought to the surface. Marion's throwing was wild at times and baseball was not all that defined it.

Grim Causes Trouble.

With the turning of the tide Jack Grim became desperate and attempted to upset the play the game of a lifetime. In the ninth inning the gallant manager of the visitors, after connecting the ball under his arm, pushed Thomas off the base and held him until Umpire O'Day called him out. The act all but caused a riot. With a bevy of angry players and officials all livelyly control himself from the stand and threatened to attack Grim. The efforts of the coaches, served by Spain and Cuffer, of the Greens who appealed for order. Grim, however, did not entirely escape for a trading business was hit the big free Sammon in the mouth with a stage.

Schafer Pitched Good Ball.

Hamilton and Schafer were the opposing slab artists and the latter had the best of the twirling deal from the very start. His twisters and bothers, his curves and speed were too much for the big scrappy bunch and when hits were needed to tie the score in the eighth and ninth, the front part of the greatest battery fated Pickett and Hebert, two much touted sluggers. The South Bender pitched magnificently and Marion really was not entitled to a single run. The two tallies which were being made on errors. Hamilton, formerly of the Indianapolis team twisted his "south paw" to good style for seven innings and until the eighth opened had allowed just four hits, scattered through as many innings. What would have happened if he had not received brilliant support on the part of his outfield is a question as Pickett, Winkelsen and Letcher pulled down hit after hit, until their record showed 14 putouts.

Cogswell's Great Play.

But Cogswell, the auburn haired guardian of right field really made the great play of the day. "Red" is expected to hand out phenomenal bits of baseball every day, but his catch of McGreevy's low fine hit in the ninth when the bases were filled surpassed any play in point of brilliancy and importance made at Springfield this year. The ball drew 30 hard on a line just over Green's head. "Cogs" turned and with the speed of a deer move from a scatter here, the ball pounder dashed towards the speeding ball and caught it but of the ground. Quick as a flash he whipped it to Crosscline at second and completed a double play by retiring Conley. The catch saved the day.

Coffey Makes Home Run.

Coffey was the first man to begin the excitement, that did of the bleachers behind the first ball up for a home run. The ball went far out over Pickett's head and sailed up against the carriage one behind left field. Coffey's homer was the very fourth hard once until the eighth.

Marion was not worried over Coffey's four socker and when the top of the batting list picked out Sam the players told Grim that they were going to do something awful to "Snipe" McGreevy walked and went to second on Letcher's bunting. Winkelsen hit, advancing McGreevy to third. The latter then scored when Grim muffed Thomas's throw to him when Wilkinson hit to second. Pickett then hit to Schafer dropped Letcher to 2 and allowed him to reach second. Winkelsen advanced him to third and when Schafer made a wild pitch, Letcher scored. An error by Spangler on Letcher and Grant's error on Grim gave Marion her final scops in the sixth.

Score Tied in Eighth.

The cyclone struck the "tail end" men in the eighth after two men were out and as a result of a base on balls and a scatter hand for Coffey, Cogswell close hit and Grim's error on Cogswell's fly, Coffey and Cogswell scored and tied the game. In the tenth inning the cyclone became a tornado. Coffey stood up Hamilton and told him he was a fish. This made the big twirler mad and when he served up a hot foot ball, Coffey promptly dropped it to center field. He was retired however, at second when Andersen, hooted and "Aunt Lil" Cuffer kept up the good work by hitting out a two bagger and sending Andersen home and then Cogswell added spice to the occasion by making a fine bagger to right, which scored Cuffer. The official score was as follows:
