BEN'S NAP IS COSTLY

HAYWORTH TRIPLES, IS CAUGHT ASLEEP, THEN COME HITS.

KEENER'S WORK VERY NICE

Ray Holds Chinks to Seven Singles, But Visitors Fail to Run Bases Decently and Waste 11 Smites.

The Tribune's Special Service.

Canton, O., Sept. 7.—South Bend lost the final game to Canton yesterday by the score of 4 to 3. Poor work on the bases by the visitors lost them the contest, as in the eighth with the score a tie at 3 to 3 Hayworth, made a hit that was good for three bases. He was caught napping easily at third and as Kelly and Mooney each followed with hits his run would have won the game in all probability. The score was a tie up to the ninth inning when the home team made one run on two hits.

Roy Keener pitched good ball for the Hoosiers allowing the Chinks only seven hits but the bingles came when they were most needed. Marquard, for the Canton team, was effective at critical times. The visitors hit him freely and they secured 11 hits off of his delivery, but they clubs when they did not count for very much. He struck out nine of the Hoosiers and while he settled down to pitching the game in good form he found that the men made sure than enough hits to win the game without any trouble, but they ran the bases like a lot of back lot players and that was what lost them the game. Keener fielded his position nicely and spoiled many a hit for the Chinks.

South Bend secured two runs in the first inning on passed balls by Hierdsmann. Bush stole second and went to third on a single by Grant and scored later by same home when Hierdsmann let one go through him. Grant circled the bases on a like error by the catcher. The other run in the score was made in the 5th on a single by Grant and a steal by Bush.

Eddie Coffey protested against several of Artie Latham's decisions and was put out of the game.

GRANT TO BE MAGNATE?

Rumor That Local Manager Seeks I.-O. Franchise.

A rumor has been going around to the effect that Managing Grant, of the local team, would like to try his hand at managing next year. It is said that Jaggie is deeply interested in the Indiana-Ohio league, the infant organization which has proven a great success.

cess, and if the league can be induced to take in Canton or Toledo to boost the population, the little manager offer becomes an easy matter for the new boss, on. All of which is mere rumor yet.

WILL GO TO SEE "GOAT."

Many Local Fans to Attend Game in Chicago To-morrow.

Many local fans plan to run into Chicago tomorrow to watch the Athletics play the Cubs and incidentally see "Goat" Ambrose, an local outfielder, at work if Manager Clarke gives him a chance to play. The "Goat" has not had much hitting very well lately and has been moving to get his stuff back. Maggert was tried out by the Pirates in a couple of games, but failed to hit at bat as he did in the Central.

BABES TO MEET A. A. CHAMPS.

Toledo and Columbus Clubs Willing to Play Hendricks Gang.

That Springfield will have a chance to meet the winner of the American association race is now practically assured, for both the Toledo and Columbus clubs, now in a hot fight for the flag, are willing to play a series of games with the Giants. They might be some winter pin money in the series for the players and the owners should pull down a little piece of coin besides. The National association will have charge of the series if it presented.

BILLY WOODLAND IN TROUBLE.

Bradenhater Horse Makes Good Effort at Detroit Races.

Billy Woodland, the Bradenhater horse, ran third in the pole at the Detroit yesterday, finishing second in the final heat. Hoffman drove the local pacer and 2:16 was the best time. The race was won by Ethel Direct, the Metropolis sensation. The South Bend people at the Michigan city meet have been down for the Free Fair stake by a side home is assured the South Bend contingent.

Bluffton Pitcher For Reds.

Laporte, Ind., Sept. 7.—"Kaiser" Boyd, star pitcher for the Bluffton team, of the Indiana and Ohio leagues, has been signed by the Cincinnati Reds for next year. He will report at the close of the season, Sept. 15.

"JAP" BARBEAU'S INJURY MAY KEEP HIM OUT FOREVER.

"JAP" BARBEAU.

Similar injuries have forced Billy Nash, Boston, knocked out by Smith, Louisville; Carney, Washington, and others.

Jack Beach, Boston, rendered unconscious by Jack Powers, Philadelphia.

Watkins, Indianapolis, hit by "Wild Bill" Widner and carried off the field.

Jimmy Jennings, Baltimore, knocked out by Amos Rusie.

Frank Truesdale, hit by ball from hat of Al Orth; had to quit game for months.

Bill Kelley, almost killed at Lexington by being hit on the temple.

Daniel Hoffman, rendered insensible by a pitched ball thrown by Jack Taylorville.

Heber Brennihan, knocked insensible at Cincinnati out of game for a month.

Jack Harbeson, knocked insensible by Samuels.

Toledo, O., Sept. 7.—W. J. "Jap" Barbeau, Toledo's phenomenal shortstop, whose work at times reminds one of Terry Turner, the Cleveland wonder, is out of the game for the season, if not for good, as the result of being hit by a pitched ball.

Barbeau was hit by Pitcher Bunner, of the Indianapolis team, the ball landing just below the temple. Barbeau was carried from the field and in most of his Summer had forced home a fast ball that dropped the infielder like a stone beneath a bombshell. Barbeau is in Toledo, and it is stated that he will be able to be moved to see no one but his wife. He physician declares that a long rest will save the little fellow's life.

AN OLD TIME CHAMP

SKETCH OF JACK BROUGHTON, 18TH CENTURY FIGHTER.

INVENTED BOXING GLOVES

Was First to Formulate Method of Defense and Defeat Opponent—Whipped at Last by Butcher.

BY GEORGE R. FULFORD.

In so far as records show, prize fighting dates back to the 18th century. Figg was champion in 1719. Pipes and Gheetha reigned from 1726 to 1734, when George Taylor became champion. Fighting was little more than rough and tumble. No rules governed and the most powerful man, or the man who landed a body blow, reigned as the "he got his." The first improvement followed Jack Broughton, who founded latter day attack and self-defense. He took from the battle much brutality and roughness. He was first to lay down what "fair" means quick, sharp blows, moving about lightly but in the amusement of his opponents, blocking and parrying their blows so that he escaped Broughton without a mark. Before Broughton, fighting was a mere matter of who could stand the most blows and some fought their way to the championship.

Broughton was good for fifty 11 and weighed 196. He was well proportioned, powerful, although not quick and active that his brows seldom seemed to be wrinkled with sweat. He was a man who bore brute strength. Against Broughton beat Pipes and Creeting frequently and seemed to have serious trouble with either. He took the champion's belt from Stakes, who was considered as he pleased. Stevenson fell before him after a hurricane encounter.

The battle was won with brains. Broughton was a man of great endurance. After 35 or 40 minutes of fighting he secured a block hold and obtained a decisive victory or falling. For minutes Stevenson was held, until his strength returned. Broughton succeeded him and stopping back delivered a blow which let the unfortunate fall with the match.

In 1719 Broughton opened an establishment in Oxford street, where he gave lessons and fights. It was here that he invented boxing gloves.

The rules provided that fighters face each other on lines chalked on the floor. Each time a second bring his man to scratch after a fall inside 30 seconds, the man was declared the victor. Kicks and seconds should not upset the stage during a fight. Umpires were chosen by the fighters and settled all arguments. When unable to agree, the umpires chose a third man.

Striking a fallen adversary when down was barred by the rules and a man upon his knees was considered as being down.

Broughton was the first to use the "guard." Before the time of "guards" it was giving lessons to guilty who did not want their beauty marred. Broughton's defensive came at the hands of a butcher named Jack Slack. Slack was a powerful man, well known in the ring trade, including Slack immediately after an argument.

During the early part of the fight Broughton made a show of his opponent, but Slack was too quick for the novice with which closed both of Broughton's eyes and then was—

After this Broughton retired and led a quiet life. He accumulated a competence and died, at the age of 84, left comfortable to relatives.

LOWER MARKS AT JAMESTOWN.

Half-mile and Junior 56-Pound Records Broken in First Day.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. The features of the opening of the Jamestown exposition athletic meet were the breaking of the junior record for throwing the 56-pound weight by P. McDonald, of the Irish-American club; the lowering of the half-mile record from three seconds by F. C. Bloodson, of Boston, and the pole vaulting of R. T. Cross, Irish-American Athletic club, who cleared fifteen feet inches of the world's record.

The events were closely contested and spectacular, the Irish-American team winning the day's honors, on the strength of the pole vault, the mile and neck and neck between Gedney and Keating, Sullivan's finish in the mile race and the backward of a bad start, taking the lead in a final spurt, obtained the big crowd yesterday.

In the 56-pound throwing event A. H. Blanchard, of the Pastime club, of Boston, took the championship from Wilhelm Melvon, Pastime A. C., whose record was 27 minutes 10 seconds. The Absecton record is 26 minutes, 21 1-5 seconds, made by Ed Ryan, of Boston, in 1905.

GRITT IN GOOD SHAPE.

Gives Public Exhibition and Shows Some Fast Work.

San Francisco, Sept. 7.—For the first time since he started training Jimmy Gritt gave a public exhibition when he put in some fast work. He sparred with Abbot Madsen and Jim Barger, going several fast rounds with each, and that the boxing world was evidenced by the fact that both of the men had recently come from near the world's middle weight.

In spite of Gritt's apparent good hit, Gans was favorite at 10 to 7 last night.

Gritt is to entertain by Selig, who has put some wonderful work washed in the ring, and he is very anxious to be added to make authoritative statements about his conditions. Gritt first to-day had Jimmy measured for three some long sporting writers. He weighed 147 pounds, and his chest when was as 44 inches, chest 41 inches, neck 14½, waist 32 inches, biceps 14 inches and forearm 12 inches. He did not step on the scales, but appeared close to the weight announced, 144 pounds.

ROGERS IN HARD TASK.

O'Rourke's Protege May Wrestle "Hack" and Fight Nolt.

New York, Sept. 7.—Joe Rogers, Tom O'Rourke's protege, who did all the elsewhere President Lincoln on Sept. 14 in a wrestling match, will have a hard time of it if he is to win the world's middle weight championship of Rogers, for O'Rourke has arranged for him to meet Jim Hack, the champion, and Jack Nolt, the champion of Pennsylvania, in the ring, the Hack bout to be a wrestling match and the Nolt bout a boxing bout.

MAPLE LEAVES ANSWER DEFY.

Ready to Wednesday Challenge and Game Will be Played Sunday.

The South Bend Maple Leaves have accepted the challenge of the Mishawaka team. The first game will be played in South Bend to-morrow and second in Mishawaka. The management of the Mishawaka club would like to have the game in the Elsmere park on Sunday morning.

DENIES GRAND RAPIDS DEAL.

Manager Hendricks Says He Doesn't Want the Franchise.

Manager Jack Hendricks denies the story from Grand Rapids, that he is after the champion's franchise. Jack claims to be contented where he is. He calls the story a canard, whatever that is, and says that it must have sprung from South Bend. Grand Rapids is the real source, however, and the people up there say it is all so.

Parks Play at Lydick.

The Lesper Parks will play at Lydick Sunday. The Parks have defeated Lydick earlier this year by the score of 16 to 3 here and therefore Lydick expects to put in a strong line-up against the Lesper and a good game is assured. Ed McCormack will again catch the team.

Burns Says Moir Challenges Him.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 7.—Tommy Burns announced in the course of his "spiel" at his side show in the fair grounds this afternoon. If there is time enough two contests may be played.

White Wings to Play.

The White Wings will cross bats in a game of indoor baseball with the Jefferson Street, on the Howard street diamond. A good game is expected.

Team at Wheeling.

The South Bend team opens the last series of the season away from home to-day meeting the Stogies at Wheeling. Evansville will be here Tuesday.
