After pitching a magnificent game in which he struck out eleven men Mr. Moffit made one great big wild pitch and lost one of the most exciting games of the year to "Doggie" Miller's Dayton aggregation. The contest was a splendid exhibition of the National game, not that it was played perfectly, but because the two teams, the Greens and the Veterans, kept on an equal basis until the final run was scored in the tenth inning, when "Doggie," the hero of countless ballies and many baseball wars, dashed across the rubber with the fifth and deciding run.

Nearly 800 people, half of whom were ladies, turned out to welcome the Green's home and to pay tribute to the youngsters, whose brilliant playing won every game played during the last trip. As was stated in The Tribune yesterday afternoon, every man was presented with a $10 gold piece just previous to the game and then while the band played, the fans rolled and the stars and stripes hitched a doff from a staff on the local players bench. It was a great day for the Greens and all that marred the happiness of the occasion was the loss of yesterday's contest to the Orioles. Defeat, however, was without its bitterness as the Wheeling Stogies, under new management, were Fort Wayne's most sound thrashing of the season and they now hold first place in the race for the pennant.

Dayton Was Strong.

As soon as Mayor Dougherty had made his presentation speech, he "throwed" ball to the field and with Mr. Hesser in the box put up such a formidable front that the Greens, aided by the applause of fandom, found themselves up against the real thing and unable to get a run to first until the fourth inning when Sager landed on the "Statue of Liberty" man for a bingle of two sacks. Aunt Lil, however, was doomed to die on the second sack as Cogswell flew out to Catcher Fox.

Sager's double most have resulted in Dayton uncorking a hot of pepper as the "Veterans" changed their tactics as soon as they came in from the field and Moffit was called upon to pitch. Moff took on the ball for long stakes, which with an overthrow to the plate by Anderson and a wide throw by Tieman, gave the soldiers three runs.

Greens Tie Score.

It was then up to the Greens to "get" these runs back and "Aggie" Grant gave out a few instructions which certainly counted. Beam sent a hot tassle out to center and as it turned Tate's fingers, the latter dropped it and Beam held first. Sprague at that stage of the game unzipped his long legs and arms, rubbed his eyes, took a pwop or two and told Coffey he was going to shoot a liner over the infield. "If you do," said Coffey, "I'll send you home with a triple." Both predictions came true and when the inning ended the contest was again a tie. In the latter inning Coffey hit a right for the home run fence, Beam was thrown out at first and scored when McCormel threw the ball into the bleachers. Dayton, however, was not defeated for after one man had been retired Hoff hit to left and McMahon sent him home with a two base hit and for the third time the score was a tie. Everything looked lovely for eleven innings in the tenth. The Greens were retired and Moffit had sent both Fox and Tate to the bench on strikeouts before Miller singled. Then with two strikes on McCormel, Moffit made a wild pitch and before Tieman could get the ball Miller was over the rubber. The official score and summary was as follows:

Caught Between Innings.

Still in first place.

To-morrow is ladies' day.

Tate, to-day, from Hoosiertown, Pa.

Coffey and Sprague had their eye on the ball.

One of 9 games pitched by Bennett, of Dayton, he lost one. It is a percentage of .700, a creditably good record. He has won over half the games won by the Veterans this year. Bennett not only pitches well, but fields his position in fine style and never balks his men.

THE CENTRAL LEAGUE DIAMOND

"Teddy" Price Succeeds Kain as Captain of Wheeling Stogies.

"Harley" Kain is no longer manager of the Wheeling baseball club. His resignation has been accepted by the directors and "Teddy" Price has been chosen his successor.

Outfielder Baker was given his release this week and Kain will continue with the outfield play in right position.

"Billy" McCombe will fill the gap at short.

"Two people on the street yesterday afternoon attracted almost as much attention as any attraction at the Railwaymen's carnival," says the Fort Wayne News. "They were Ed. Cline the pitcher, and Tudor Rung, the Lilliputian third baseman for the Grand Rapids team. Both were dressed in blue serge suits, with a sailor hat, and as they came down the street together people who did not know them took them for father and son. Both are built from the ground up, but the difference in that Tudor is only built about one-half as tall as Ether."

Secretary Pulliam, of the National association of professional baseball clubs, has notified L. S. Smith, president of the Terre Haute baseball club that so far as he knows, Rudy Kling and Lee Walters, who jumped from Terre Haute to go to Oakland, Cal., never played in the outlaw league. The twosome, however, still belong to Terre Haute, and unless some arrangement has written the element of the local management, Smith had agreed with Bennett, of Evansville, to trade Kling for Catcher McKinley, of Evansville. Both clubs accepted a cash offer from a club not belonging to the National association, and Kling, Walters, Pop and Smith are all in the same boat. Some of the city could be in over the deal will go through.

Smith says there is absolutely no truth in reports that Diamond has been sold to either the Chicago American or National league clubs.

Harry W. Arms, of the Wheeling Intelligencer, has found the sliding place of the Fort Wayne News, of Needles, Cheyenne and Bakersfield, North Carolina.

President Smith, of the Terre Haute team has $140 that he would like to exchange for the transfer of Right Fielder Frank Bruggy from the Easton to the Terre Haute team.

Pitcher Hamilton has jumped the Marion team. Capt. Myers, of Fort Wayne, tried to land Easton who was released by Orioles but could not reach him at Marion, he having gone to Evansville. It is thought that he has left Marion to join Capt. Nevin.

Pitcher Jones has left Fort Wayne for Mount City, Ill., to finish the West. ern association season with that club.

The Grand Rapids team may be transferred to Youngstown, O., next season. James Meyers, of Youngstown, has already made a bid for the franchise. Meyers was president of the Ohio State league, the inter-state league second round agin.

Grand Rapids may get Donahue, of Evansville now that Jack Newbury has secured Lally for third.

CONDENSED NEWS OF SPORT.

Wolfram Wins Race at Harlem and Arnold Makes Killing.

Wolfram, a 100-to-1 shot, won the second race at Harlem, Chicago, yesterday, and E. J. Arnold, the former proprietor of an extensive gambling which had endowed, was reported about $10,000 on the result. He managed to get the bookmakers to take the $20 on Wolfram across the board, and by offering 5 in small sums, secured straight odds of 95 to 100 to 1 for his money. Wolfram opened at 40 to 1, went up 50 to 1 and closed at 100 to 1.

Coach Yost, of Michigan, in a letter from Ann Arbor, Mich., paper, has advised western football authorities to get together for discussion of the proposed new football rules.

Said of the Greens.

In speaking of the Greens-Stogies series the Wheeling Telegraph says:

"Grant has no hesitancy in removing pitchers. He took Beam out after the latter had pitched one inning. Sager played a great game at third. Shiffler hit over left field fence, but he was thrown out at third. * *

"One out of 14 from South Bend is the awful record of the team. * *

"Capt. Grant, who batted Beaman and Sprague all over the field, was against in to Miller and failed to get a hit. The little southpaw fanned him twice."

TO TELL AGE OF TREES.

Unless Date of Planting Is Known Secret May be Kept.

Unless the date of planting is known a tree can keep the secret of its age as long as it lives. Only when it is cut down and the rings that then show on this cut surface are counted can its exact age be told. Especially when a tree is sawed down, leaving the stump with a smooth, flat surface, is it easy to count its years. Trees such as the oak, chestnut, pine, etc., add a thin layer just under the rough outer bark each year; These layers harden into tough woody fiber, and one after another make the tree bigger and bigger around. When the tree is cut down these layers show just like the layers one sees in an onion cut in half.

As each layer counts for a year, the age of trees that have grown straight and tall is very easy to determine, while in gnarled, wind-twisted trees the rings run into each other and can scarcely be distinguished, and then some of the famous old sentinels on the battlefields of Europe, the secret of their age is lost. As the trunk of trees grow larger layer by layer, the tough outside bark which bars from year to year cracks wider and wider in its efforts to fit the big round body it was not made for, and great fissures and furrows appear, such as are seen in the oak. Some trees, like the birch, change their bark from year to year. The birch bark that peels off is almost as thin as paper and split in a thousand pieces with the swelling of the live new wood just beneath.—New York Tribune.

WAS TOO FAR DOWN.

Youngster's Nickel Not at the Moment Available.

Senator Sibley, the famous trotting horse breeder, had taken his family to the county fair and was waiting about the grounds surrounded by his youngsters—of which he has some—this last time a down—when he met one of them tugging at his coattails. As he turned the youngster, a lad of six, implored his father to buy him a tey balloon. "Buy it yourself," said the wealthy Pennsylvanian. "Where's the nickel I gave you a moment ago?" "It's down my neck." "Well, shake it out," said Mr. Sibley. "I can't," sobbed the little shaver; "it was in my mouth when it went down."—New York Times.

Another Result.

"After all," remarked the parson, "it pays to be good."

"I'm not quite sure of that," replied the lawyer. "You get only $2 for lying a knot, while I get $50 for toying it."
