

THROOPS ARE IN CAMP

INDIANA NATIONAL GUARD HAND AT WORK.

CHANGES IN THIRD INFANTRY

Captain Deane Relays to Quarter-master-General, Chicago, for South Bend Band-Company.

BY R. H. HUGHES.

Chap of Indiana National Guard, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Aug. 1-4, a new city was born in Indiana today when from a field of stubble, the white tent town of the Indiana National Guard sprang into existence, 1,000 tents and about 2000 men were sent from every section of the state to a camp in the heart of the woods.

This morning at sunrise, the vast area of the camp was visible from the tent town. The first thing that met the eyes of the officers of the quarter-master's department, who reached the camp yesterday and spent the day in drawing supplies and equipment for the big day's work of the day.

The camp from early morning to day presented a scene of activity, the carrying of supplies and the building of the camp. The first thing that met the eyes of the officers of the quarter-master's department, who reached the camp yesterday and spent the day in drawing supplies and equipment for the big day's work of the day.

The real work of the camp will be done in a week's time. The first thing that met the eyes of the officers of the quarter-master's department, who reached the camp yesterday and spent the day in drawing supplies and equipment for the big day's work of the day.

With this in mind, the first thing that met the eyes of the officers of the quarter-master's department, who reached the camp yesterday and spent the day in drawing supplies and equipment for the big day's work of the day.
