FAIR NOTES.

The ladies' equestrian contest takes place Friday afternoon at one o'clock sharp.

There are 2,000 people on the grounds to-day in defiance of rain and threatenings of storm. The farming community, unable to do any work at home on account of the wet, are putting in their leisure time viewing their exhibits, visiting in the exhibition halls and discussing the weather. The city people began joining them at noon and the long face of the directors shortened rapidly as the crowd increased. It is especially gratifying to them to have this substantial evidence that their show is good enough to draw in rainy weather.

Miller's corner band paraded the streets this morning, and then repaired to the fair grounds to make music for the afternoon. The company was on hand to make displays in the stock ring and a drill by the "vets," who also gave a skirmish drill this afternoon. The company drills were called at 1:30 this afternoon, commencing with the unfinished 2:25 race.

An interesting addition to the old-folks' corner is made by Dr. Osborn, of South Bend. It is a case of cupping instruments of the last century, a spring lancet 70 years old and two volumes of "Eberle's Practice," very popular among physicians half a century ago.

All articles found on the grounds should be left at the secretary's office.

A bay horse wearing part of a harness is in Hi Turnpole's charge at the grounds and wants an owner.

SOMETHING NEW.

Worth Seeing and Hearing—Free Exhibition.

Friday evening, Sept. 24th, at 8 o'clock, corner of Dr. Ayer's popular Health Lecture. Grand display of stereopticon views by oxy-hydrogen illumination, from photographs from nature, covering the entire stage front of Price's opera house showing with perfect and vivid distinctness, natural coloring and harmony of effects, cities, harbors, shipping, notable edifices, etc., in this country and in Europe, as well as natural scenery, Yosemite valley, Yellowstone park, moving waters, volcano and geysers in eruption, canyons, mountains, lakes, rivers, grottoes, caverns, Indian life—grand old forests, ship-wreck, ruins in the old world, scenes by moonlight, in summer and in winter, and many other most interesting scenes.

Also anatomical views colored in life. A delightful free entertainment to which, all ladies and gentlemen are cordially invited. Come early to secure seats, as these lectures are always largely attended by appreciative audiences.

Boys not admitted unless accompanied by their parents or guardians.
