PAT'S KIBOSH WORKS

CHAMPS ARE SHUT OUT BY THE CELT SOUTHPAW.

LOCALS SQUEEZE OUT TWO

South Bend Hits Rangy Elmer Conveniently—Big Mob Including Doc Williamson's Wolverines Attend Doings.

Pat Lindsay and the rest of the South Bend bunch were rude enough to beat the flag Hovre yesterday right before a large bunch of their friends who had journeyed all the way from the Grand river valley to root for them, and incidentally to see what sort of a town our's is. Getting runs in the game was like squeezing water from stones, only the stone the locals squeezed had two drops in it and that the visitors handled had six; i. e., the score was 2 to 8. And that is the first shut out game the locals have to their credit.

There was a large assortment of bugs at that game, the largest of the year. Nearly 2,000 baseball-infected Sequinoes paid their way into the bleachers and among them were about 100 Wolverines who had journeyed to the Soo of whom were gathered together by Doc Williamson, former Celt, to visit his old home and see the Champs play ball away from their diamond. The Grand Rapids bugs arrived quite early in the day, led by some bugs of Sequinoe, and R. W. himself. The band rendered several superb selections in the business section of the city.

But the great theatrical entrance of Doc was the feature of the day's stunts. The visiting team had just finished practice and the home crew was on the field when the band entered through the east gate. With military precision, "Doc" marched "about-face-right-left" at center field and came across the diamond to the grand stand. As the band came over the slab it became apparent to the multitude that Doc was leading a bunch of Wolverines and then a great shout went up which Doc answered by doffing his hat and bowing to the stand with an air and grace that would have had Lord Chesterfield green with envy. There is no doubting if either Pulit or Kenoyl ever got the reception that the ex-South Bend wun received. And he deserved it for he introduced the Queen City of the Kalamazoo valley (the Bemidle Minnesotan concession) to the wondering Wolverines.

Well, when the hip-hip was about ended and the band had given another musical concert in front of the stand, Umpire Frank Killen called the Champs and Celts together and down to the real business of the day and the game began.

Lindsay on Mound.

Pat Lindsay was announced as the selection of Angus for the hurling end of the home battery with Johnson behind the plate. Lindsay, Johnson, Bliss and Charlie Moran are the other people's pointa. Now Pat had a reputation of being some pitcher, gained by the sudden exploit of holding the Chicago Cubs scoreless for one game in their own yard a few days ago and he proceeded to live right up to held up. He allowed them only two and never let them scent the plate. Pat had the Champs guessing from it and the mighty Champs were as babes before his awful side wheel. Bliss pitched a rather nice game, too, but the homebodies had their stinging bunches of hits and scored two off his offerings. Elmer had their sentiment enough apart to prevent their resulting in more than two tallies altogether, but who wanted more?

Johnson, the Celt receiver, and Johnson was in the game again yesterday. Three more assins were added to his collection, making a total of seven in the two days, out of eight A. B's. Three Montreal men remembered with the stick, totaling three safeties and Hayworth, Tiernan and Moran. Hayworth poked his regular first inning two-baser and sent over the first run.

The home team went to bat first and won the game in the first inning, though the rest of the contest was played out to make it legal. Bush failed to locate the sinuous offerings Elmer was passing up. Mulcoy, however, got a single through the infield right over second, which netted him an abiding place at first. It was then that Hayworth duplicated his act of Friday and drove a liner to left center for a double, Mulcoy scoring from second himself. That sort of took the heart out of Bliss and the Michigan fans. Johnson was pinched in the wisdom bone, and when Thomas followed with a single through the infield hadn't lost heart though and by a peach of a peg he nailed Hayworth at the plate. Holycross ended the inning by poking a grounder to Dan.

Tiernan started the second off and the third was too, though it appeared portentious for a time. After Bush, who hit in hard luck all day, had filed to Backof, Mulcoy got another single. Hayworth's bat drive was swallowed out in left by Gerger, who had moved over from center to right, Moll taking that. Hanis was the one best bet at this instance, but Bliss had him blinded and he fanned. Trubshaw beat out an infield hit, Mulcoy scoring and Gerger and Grant hit a fly to Gerger. "Crush" was way down on the hit, having started to steal and it looked like a sixth double, but Conaway had all but nailed him, knocking him over while "Crush" touched the bag and then went back to second. Lindsay cut that short by flying to Bush.

Final Score in the Seventh.

He took in the fifth but in the sixth Tiernan got a single and Johnson singled and was advanced on Tieman's sacrifice, but the next two were outs without helping. The final tally came in the seventh, and that was a real one. Tiernan started off with a walk, the first one Bliss gave, and promptly pilfered second and when Fuller lifted Mulcoy's drive took another—Mulcoy stole second and Tiernan third. Hayworth walked on Johnson's hit, but Hanis fanned.

Holycross hit to Cuppy in the sight and Fuller fumbled the throw, "Crush" popped to Nig, but Grant smashed one to Hayworth and Tiernan came home. Lindsay went out without scoring the run, and Lefty Geyer made a nice running catch of Bush's long fly, ending the inning. Mulcoy singled and Hayworth hit a fly to Conaway. In the ninth but n. d.

The game was so light that the one run of the locals looked as good and big as losing after inning passed and the visitors were unable to get to Pat. The Celt had it on them always and they could not hit when a run was in bad. It wasn't using the sixth that he was reached for anything and then the visiting fans were aroused from their lethargy only temporarily. In the meantime the Wolverines and Michiganders waited before the railway pathways and the next one fooled to Hayworth and in the second one more was breezed and the others taken care of by the outfielders. In best there, however, Pat started to dig a grave for himself and was rescued from interment by Bliss. In the fifth Bliss blacked the first thing and fooled Moran's bear-sacrifice long enough for two Champs to fold home for a time. Bliss second and then came 4th one when Bliss pitched Conaway's hit roller, threw to Grant forcing Moran, and Grant heaved to first completing the double and ending the inning.

Bliss Gets to Third.

It was oh-awed-fred in the two following innings, Bliss getting to third in the sixth after Crabbaugh had spoiled Moran's grounder Bliss ill on the pickoff for three stations. That was the first hit the Cups landed and with a pain on Gerger and Cuppy one sacked dubious in the right week in the seventh. Bliss fanned, but Pat Fuller made his entry. Nig had been the pinch hitter in the Champ-loads and Cuppy got a chance to pull in the game by substituting Fuller for Nig. Fuller made the grand one for Pat's offerings on the mose, but Grant was right square in the tracks and squared it. The cup held the ball in his mitt a few moments and then let it drop to the floor until the long one carried back to third and then finished Fuller. Cuppy relieved some anxious hearts by popping one in "Crutch" waiting paw.

In the last half the Champs were succeeded in some of his when Bush threw slightly wild on his hard hit, but another one of those double stopped things then. Grant started off the Champs in the eighth with this, despite to Backof's grounder just in time to touch Cuff and then choke the batter at first. A base on balls immediately followed was worked for Angus by a catastrophe in the last inning that the home boys held their breath and the visitors crowded expectantly, walking from the bleachers right to the fire exactly behind the out. Nig was sent in to relieve the pressure and he did it. Nig, the Champ-ion, a stage through center. Gerger's long foul was eaten after a hard run by Hedick, but Francis was socked in the treline and Smith drove one to Bliss, who had to throw to nobody at the home but stopping Mr. Curtis. There was a thrill of hope in the hearts of the Wolverines and a thrill of horror of equal size in the hearts of the Celt rooters. Bliss had to do, was to rest it for a good single to tie the score while an extra nine drips would change the whole complexion of the game. But, biffle! Bliss fanned on the first one and it is where the ball decided to light. The doings in diagram.
