HALLMAN IS WINNER

"TOTS" UNABLE TO HIT GRANT'S SOUTHPAW AND LOSE.

WEIRD STUNTS IN THE FIELD

Errors by Terry Haute Aid Grantites in Scoring—Shift Drives to the Bench by South Bend Sluggers.

The Tribune's Special Service.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 15.—Inability to hit the ball and some weird stunts in the field were the principal reasons for the "Tots" defeat by South Bend yesterday afternoon. The Benders really won the game in the first inning, when four of them chased over the plate, and the final score was 9 to 5.

Al Shaw started to do the bending for the Hoopefuls, and he passed two innings and a part of the third, when he was yanked out of the box after Anderson drove the ball into left field for three bases. Doyle sent Weep on the mound and the little southpaw twirled a game that should have won for him, but the other pitchers failed to rally to his support. However, the defeat cannot be charged to Weep, as the Benders were in the lead when he broke into the game.

Hallman, a sidesholder, worked for South Bend and he was in good form, barring some wildness and a proclivity for hitting batters. Downing was hit three times, Decker caught one on the elbow that nearly put him out of the game, and Hallman hit Connors and Bardeed. Hallman had the Hoopfuls strictly on his stuff all during the contest, as his record of strike-outs shows.

Harry Manning retired from the game after the first inning, owing to a nip he got on the finger, and Downing took his place behind the bat, and he was decidedly there with his throwing and on the catching lines.

South Bend Plays Ball.

Benders played the best ball they have shown during the present series. Tieman was in right field in place of Troutman, and the hard-hitting little cagher got a hit in the eight inning. Batting in two weeks didn't have a shade on the outfield. Francis at third played well, but for the second time he bordered. Weep was hit, walking to first. Wheeler hit to short, forcing Decker at second and Doyle struck out.

Shaw steadied down in the second and retired the Benders in order. Kurtz got to the first on a fielder's choice, Doyle's F. ville of his grounds. Hallman was tempted to sacrifice and sent a pop fly to Shaw. Fleming drove one at Miller, who fielded it perfectly, touching Kurtz, going to second and throwing Fleming at first, completing the double play.

Shaw Driven From Mound.

Shaw was chased to the woods in the third inning, Anderson hitting the ball pretty hard, and one into deep left field for three bases. Weep went in, and but for a clinch play on Connors, the Benders would have been blanked. Anderson was caught napping at the plate which Weep fielded, but Doyle was coming in for the ball and failed to cover first base. Connors getting credit for a hit when he should have been put out. Hallman was responsible for the confusion. Richardson struck, and Downing contributed a passed ball, letting Connors reach third. He didn't get any further, as Francis was out on a fly to Miller, and Weep threw Tieman out at Doyle.

The "Tots" were blanked until the seventh inning, when Chavis worked his way around. He led off and was hit by a pitched ball. Decker walked and Wheeler was sacrificed to second. Doyle tore loose with a hit into right field, scoring Chavis. Decker going to third. Miller tried hard, but the best he could do was a long drive to deep center field, which Anderson fielded to Francis.

In the eighth inning the Benders made three more. Fleming reached first on Miller's bobble. Anderson fouled out and Fleming went to second. Hallman hit a long drive, which perfect throw to catch him. Connors sent a vicious line through short, for two bases, scoring Fleming. Richardson was out from Miller to Doyle and Connors went to third. Francis hit to right field, scoring Connors and Francis, but he was caught trying to stretch his hit into a three bagger, going out from Wacombe to Bub to Doyle. The Benders were blanked in the ninth.

Notes of the Game.

It was ladies' day and quite a large number of the fair sex were out.

President Carson attended the game. He may also attend the games at Indianapolis.

Kuhn had a chance to complete a double play in the ninth inning but threw the ball too low for Connors to handle.

Grant looked pleased after the game and during the closing innings had some fun "ragging" the bleachertes from the dugout.

One of Doyle's hits was a slow grounder down towards third base. Francis couldn't get to it in time to catch the little third-sacker.

Downing didn't allow a stolen base, making two splendid throws to second, one of which Bub dropped and the other Miller handled perfectly.

Weep certainly showed by his work that he is a valuable man to the club. The little southpaw pitched splendid ball and fielded his position nicely.

Miller's work was brilliant yesterday despite the bobble he made. He covers a world of ground around second base and has all kinds of grounders.

Wacombe was hit by a pitched ball. Bunting yesterday he caught his opponent napping at the plate. He also showed better than in the game Saturday.

EBERLE IS KNOCKED OUT.

Wheeling Breaks Jackson's Winning Streak in Third Game.

The Tribune's Special Service.

Springfield, O., May 15.—Wheeling knocked Eberle out of the box yesterday and broke the Jackson winning streak. Dickerson, who was substituted, had the shadows the best two innings, but entered the game too late.
