SOCIETY SEES GAME

BIG CROWD WITNESSES SOUTH BEND-MISHAWAKA CONTEST.

LARGE SUM FOR ORPHANS

Musical Bat Donated by J. M. Studebaker, Sr., is Sold for Thirty Dollars, F. G. Eberhart Being Purchaser.

(By the Society Editor.)

Society of South Bend and Mishawaka assembled at Springbrook park, yesterday afternoon, to observe a match on the base ball field there, by gentlemen of mercantile and professional interests of this city and those of the sister city four miles up the lovely St. Joseph river. The affair resulted in nine counts for Mishawaka and five for South Bend and the elite of the former place are very, very much elated in consequence. The function was for the benefit of the Orphans' home and the dear little orphans are $35 better off as a result.

It is doubtful if any event on the summer season social calendar has been happily conversed about by the ultra-fashionable and others as much as this one. Therefore the gathering was of immense proportions. Society people were there in a body, deserving of many, many encomiums for the manner in which they conducted themselves on the field. There were some exchanges of the ball, hitting and throwing, that were exquisitely graceful and many that were gracefully exquisite, so far as the gentlemen displayed their lack of knowledge. One or two however were as much at home as the sweet girl when she is being spidersnaill the mazy waltz.

One of the gentlemen who did not know so much about the way the game is played when the regular teams are running and hitting was the man who was called on to umpire for anything in a pretty new suit, all in red. Major Louie Nickel felt sorry for his lack of knowledge, probably because so many ladies were present. He felt sorry for those of them who carried the sticks and so he stopped the game to tell the dear boy that he was not to stand on the chalk marks. Mr. Wambach, and who could blame him just wouldn't look at the major and would not have anything to do with him. He called a little man and tried to push him away. It was exciting and if it hadn't been for Chief McWhinney the horrid thing Major Nickel would have pinned Mr. Wambach's ear to the ground and left him to the player's scorn in front of the grand stand. Mr. McWhinney, though asked two of his South Bend policemen to assist him and they were very willing, could not induce those who wear uniforms first.

Musical Bat is Sold.

After the third visit Mr. Herring stepped before the crowd and told the elite that Hon. Marvin Campbell would sell the musical bat donated by Mr. J. M. Studebaker, Sr. The sale was made immediately, the bat being sold to Mr. F. G. Eberhart, who is looking gentlemen did the bidding and almost before the time to begin the game again, the bat was and rumors having rested, Mr. F. G. Eberhart, of Mishawaka, was seen to pay the handsome addition to the fund for the dear little ones.

Like all social functions, this base-ball affair did not begin until nearly two hours after the time set for it to begin in invitations and if these had not been comfy and gum the ladies would have been fearfully nervous. J. M. Studebaker, sr., was the first man to be seen on the diamond and he selected the place marked off like a diamond. Mayor Mix, of Mishawaka threw the ball at him and if Mr. Studebaker hadn't dodged he would have been hit in the face. He was frightened, when he realized how near he had placed Mr. Studebaker in danger and so he tossed the ball to the striker the next time and Mr. Studebaker was ready to hit the ball to bit. Mr. Louie Nickel ran towards Mr. Eggleston who was standing on a pad to be the surprise of everybody he didn't even talk to him. Mr. George Vyrnon was the next man to try and he was awful good, but Mr. Studebaker hit the ball with wonderful be his man run for him though because it seems that the balls which topped his stick came towards the grand stand. It was just too bad that Mr. Studebaker hit the ball the half where some Mishawaka man could get it they made him run and then told him he would have to come back and sit down until the next rest. Mr. Studebaker was very good at hitting the ball, and when he came back to the chalks, the men said he had fanned. He certainly didn't look as if he had fan peagrim. Mr. Studebaker was very nervous before this thing Mr. Hild was running from one place to another and when he passed over the white mark in front of the gentlemen who was standing there he was frightened and acted as if President Roosevelt was making one of his speeches.

Mix Does His Bat.

Mayor Mix was the first gentleman from Mishawaka to stand on the white spot and he looked at Mayor Fogarty so cruel that the latter couldn't smile and it was all he could do to hit the ball. Mr. Mix, the man who had borrowed the apron from Mr. Bixby and had tied it over his chest. Mayor Mix though, got the broom handle on the ball and it rolled off to the pitcher. Mayor Mix had to beat to let it get by him. When he picked it up it was no longer white and white. Mr. Shively said that the mayor was throwing a spit ball or something like that. Mr. Shively was afraid of the ball and when his knees began to tremble, Mr. Hild who was standing behind Dr. Rennoe told him to walk out to the place where the catcher was standing. He did and Mr. Hild called to the Rev. J. J. Jackson, some of the men down in front called him "Doak" but because when he struck the ball it rolled towards Mr. Jackson. Then Mr. McWhinney had to call the attention of the people which their heels. Why they desired like the real ball players and when they touched the ball they ever cleared out where Mr. Irwin was standing. Mr. Irwin was very good and they tried to hit him and he was supposed to be blamed when he ran so far away from the ball as he could. It was not nice right for those Mishawaka men to make Mr. Irwin run and if they make Mr. Irwin mad, they ought to have been considerate enough to get a clean ball first. Before the ball was found after Dr. Rennoe had struck, Mr. Studebaker was heard to say in a "sudden" or words to that effect and when he was asked to explain what he meant he said that South Bend was going to get beaten as Mishawaka was winning.

Well the members were getting got as the score kept up. Mr. Hild getting mad and out of sorts because so many were asking him all about the way to tell which side was ho said he would prepare a box which would tell everything. Not being able to see how a game was going to be of any account the better put the matter aside and Mr. Hild was left to try to find out the score keeping as best he could. His part of the work is as follows:

During the Game.

It was real provoking the way the gentlemen always threw the ball to Dr. Rennoe. They wanted to make his hands real dirty.

Mayor Mix was heard to say that his aim hurt him.

The rule book, of which Mr. Thomas was the proud possessor, was used quite handy. The gentlemen and Mr. Studebaker appeared it and that Major Nickel could not have called outs and fairs without it. The rules were as follows:

Hit the ball but don't hurt your eyes. Don't hit the ball at all.

Any one caught stealing a base will be pinched by Chief McWhinney.

Fat men will be taken care perspiring if you don't hit the ball.

Do not wait on the home plate. The catcher is not allowed to catch balls.

No batting the ball over the Lake Michigan.

The umpire is not allowed in the grand stand.

If you don't make a home run, run home.

Don't break the handle of the pitcher.

TELLS HOW IT WAS DONE.

Fort Wayne Sentinel and News Comment on Last South Bend Game.

The two afternoon papers at Fort Wayne, the Sentinel and News, have the following comment to offer on the last game of the South Bend-Fort Wayne series:

Sentinel—Tom Williams ventilated his opinions of some South Bend men they called attention to the fact that he is getting away with some easier games with his dinky bends and slow balls. He is assuming about his salary whip.

Great manages to get the best work out of his men that they are capable of. Corfez and Cogswell were disappointing. He showed good judgment in not sending Corfez back to the mound to him by Louisville. The men he is carrying are up on the toss all the time and from the work done here are evidently winning on merit. Cogswell is a pitcher he is probably the best in the league.

Ten innings in an hour and three minutes gives an idea of how rapidly the game was played. Grant and his men were anxious to get back home to Orlando and they engaged the game to take along with them. They got both but were compelled to go to the depot in their uniforms and dress on the train.

Great is about the fastest manager Fort Wayne has had in many moons. He rushed Fort Wayne of a dozen hits during the series.

News—After tying the score in the seventh and neither side getting anywhere near the plate, Manager Great of Grant sprinted to catch the train for Evansville. South Bend went in the tenth and slammed up the Chinese to the tune of 7 to 2. As in the other game, Williams was unhittable, allowing the South Bend pitcher, Smith, pitched still edged ball.

The South Bend outfield had nine putouts to their credit, several of them being sensational.

Jennings and Smith shook up Connors pretty about the first in the 4th and rather it looked as if he Greenhoe had a horseface consisting of about his person covered by the stetch he leaped in the air and caught a fly ball in the 4th. He surprised himself as well as the fans.

The "Smoke Book" is the traveling salesman of our Mail-Order Service. It tells you a good deal more than most salesmen know about modern methods of growing tobacco and making it up into cigars and cigarettes—and of passing them to you in perfect condition. It is a handsome book, full magazine size, well illustrated, and printed in two colors.
The "Smoke Book" puts you in direct touch with the most famous cigar house in the world—the largest of our 100 stores and the headquarters of the Mail-Order Service—in the Flatiron Building, New York.
The Mail-Order Service supplies cigars and cigarettes regularly to thousands of satisfied smokers in all parts of the country.
All orders from one section go in one particular salesman, and he sees that all of his orders are filled and shipped the same day they are received. The same expert salesman who attends to your first order, selects personally all the cigars and cigarettes you order afterwards.
