FORT WAYNE STRONG

MAUTNER'S TEAM LOOKS GOOD TO SHOBER.

BADE MYERS WORKS MEN

Fans of Central League City Expect Much From Aggregation This Season—Barton is Anderson's Star Player.

Special to The South Bend Tribune.

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 14.—Fort Wayne has a sure thing. After having trailed along toward the end kicking up a little trouble she is trying now to make good by coming up with a smile. All the Central league teams have already picked the winners with the exception of Fort Wayne and she is just in much of a hurry.

It must be remembered that Fort Wayne has not been in professional ball for more than a year and that the crowd lined upon now in the Central league is almost an entirely new one and the personnel of the Fort Wayne club is absolutely unknown to local fans except so far as it has developed in the Central league games. The other Central league cities refer to their players as been companions and I am sometimes constrained to think that the whole colony has been sharing the same bed for years; here it is different. With the exception of Stanley Arthur, all are new faces to Fort Wayne fans. However, the newcomers have made a good impression and if they do not develop into a winning team, one is a sight the patrons will be considerate enough to concede him another guess.

Recruits Look All Right.

Saturday was supposed to be the day for the grand "pull-off" when the Fort Wayne crowd was to assemble itself and do battle with the Marion Owls, an adjunct of the Marion aggregation who were supposed to get a line on the Fort Wayne bunch. Rain interfered early in the day and President Mautner wired the Marion crowd not to come. Nearly five hundred people had assembled on money at the gate in spite of the previous announcements that there would be no game.

From a Fort Wayne point of view the recruits look good. With the exception of Blair, a little second baseman from Michigan, and a little old age on Jones, they look good and actual players, not players who look as though they could hit the ball. Pearl Edmonds, of Coxville, Ind., is not pure to-land in the list of label pitchers. Edmonds was one of the first to report and the Very first to Hake the fleet of Fort Wayne from his feet. He found the company rather fast and concluded to save expense by making a return jump.

Fort Wayne has no predictions to make at this early day concerning the final makeup of the Fort Wayne club. Many a good look player has been awarded by an ambitious criticism, even though deserved and the old veterans will be free to admit that nothing has so much tendency to give a man a "swelled head" as a good write up and the spine of his back. With a very few exceptions all the men who have reported to date are likely men and the young bloods shown up well as the old, barring evidences of experience.

GANT SHOBER.

PRACTICE AT NOTRE DAME.

South Bend League Team Work With Collegians.

Pitchers Spear and Page had their troubles yesterday afternoon, when Manager Grant gave them a work-out against the 'varsity at Notre Dame. Neither man did anything out of the ordinary, except to show kindness to the university batsmen and allow top of the youngsters bases on balls. They also hit two men, all of which occurred in five innings. The final result was Notre Dame, 10, South Bend, 6.

There was no attempt to play ball yesterday. The day was cold and the leaguers refused to run any risk of taking cold. The men who were not in the game worked out on the gymnasium. The summary:

The New Season and its Needs: Hires Rootbeer One of Them.

With the return of spring, and the new season's of summer, the thoughts of the average person, when turning to the requisites for the comfort and enjoyment of the new season, have come to include in the list that great thirst-quencher and health-giver—Hires Rootbeer. In thousands of homes and over the land, Hires has taken its place as one of the pleasures and comforts of the long, hot summer days. And the reason for this popularity is not far to seek.

Hires Rootbeer is, from the very nature of its components and preparation, a beverage of the kind and kind to which the mind at this season naturally turns. Made of the roots and herbs, taken from their natural sources and well known, for their medicinal properties, are the ingredients of this delightful beverage; and so concocted and so easy to prepare that most sparkling, foaming, fizzing, refreshing, invigorating drink possible is obtained. Three specially fields to it; and such a drink as lemonade or sarsaparilla, whether due to overwork, heat, or other cause, is the unknown enemy to a good drink.

To the thirty million of the thirsty Rootbeer has added reason for the popularity of Hires Rootbeer is its economy. A package costing only 25 cents makes five gallons of this delicious drink—enough to satisfy even the greatest thirsts which are sure to follow, until opportunity permits the preparation of more. In no other way, at such little cost, can such a good drink be obtained. Hires Rootbeer can be obtained in through a little trouble by the home of Hires Rootbeer. To avoid the danger of substitution of inferior preparations held under the name of "rootbeer," it course some dealers resorted to the unscrupulous practice of trying to sell in lieu of Hires.
