BERT ANNIS IS OWNER

LOCAL MAN BUYS FRANCHISE FROM ASSOCIATION.

GRANT PROBABLE MANAGER

If Angus and New Magnate Come to Terms He Will Retain Leadership—Work to Begin at Once.

Bert Annis is the new owner of the Central league franchise in South Bend and the city will have baseball for another year of the sort it deserves. The board of directors of the local association arranged the deal for the sale of the franchise to the new magnate to-day, following action at the special meeting last night, when it was announced that Annis would give $2,500 for the club's rights in the league and the sense of the association was ascertained to be in favor of the sale.

The new owner met the directors at a specially called meeting to-day at which the franchise was transferred to him and the requisite money turned over the club. The association is still in existence, of course, but will have nothing more to do with the game in this city. The last meeting will probably be the annual in January.

Magnate Annis will begin at once to rebuild the team, the most important work he has to do. There are a number of players who have made good in the smaller leagues and the coming season being open for another two weeks there is still a little time to get the men.

Angus Grant probably will be manager and captain of the team, if he and the new owner can agree on terms. Magnate Annis will take an active part in running its affairs, however, both as a business way and off the field.

Efforts to form a good team are promised by the new magnate. He will make every effort to strengthen the several weak places in the nine and with the nucleus now in being there should be little difficulty in getting the field in shape. Of course too much must not be expected by the fans, for it is next to impossible to make a pennant winner out of a tail ender in a year.

Central league magnates will be pleased to learn that Annis is going to have control of the club and while the association has given the city the best of the national game South Bend was the only town except Canton in the circuit which failed to see its team pulled by outside parties, which seems to be the modern method and the more successful one.

The meeting last night was attended by all members of the association board. The report of the committee headed by H. H. Stoll which was appointed to solicit funds by the sale of additional stock among the share holders of the association showed that altogether $1,000 has been subscribed, which is $500 short of the sum needed for a fortnight ago. This was considered entirely insufficient, being only about half the sum needed to pay indebtedness and start the team next season. The committee was given an opportunity authorizing the directors to sell to go into effect without qualification.

While the association did not discuss the sale of the franchise, it was apparent from the discussion that it was the consensus of desire on the part of the members evidently that he be made the preferred bidder. This was due in a great measure to Central Pennsylvania sentiment, it is believed, which would guarantee that the south-bo purchaser, if successful in his bid, would give the town good baseball and would keep the franchise in South Bend as long as he was able.

The directors were given and took a vote of thanks for the good efforts it had made in trying to raise funds and the association expressed gratification at the work of the board of directors and at the fact that it had been successful in finding two several boards to tide over the hard times.

There was joy among the directors who were relieved to learn that they would not suffer the loss of money they had expected, the total amount being $1,000 coming to him. The public, too, is more than satisfied with the change, and it looks as though would be renewed interest in the game next summer.

CORNELL MAY CLAIM TITLE.

Ithacans Will Call Themselves Champions Should They Win.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Cornell's team left for Westchester last night. They will hold tight signal practice in preparation for the Thanksgiving game with the Pennsylvanians Dorn to-morrow.

The field was covered with an inch of snow and water and the back field on which signal drill was held was not much better. "Every chance for victory, I never saw the men look better," said Coach Lanier.

Coach Lanier could scarcely conceal his exuberant enthusiasm and when asked if he expected a victory said:

"Well, we'll do our talking after the game."

Cornell will claim the eastern intercollegiate championship in case of victory.

VARSITY OFF TO-NIGHT.

Notre Dame Eleven Goes to Meet St. Vincent.

Eleven husky Notre Dame players will depart for Chicago to-night where they hope to put the strong St. Vincent forces to rout to-morrow. Assistant Coach Bracken will be in charge of the team and Manager McGlennon and Coach Barry will go for the trip. Manager McGlennon with the squad of local athletes, a large number of rooters from South Bend and the university will be joined by the graduate scouts and local admirers in Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Coach Haggerty of St. Vincent's gave his players their last hard work in preparation for the Notre Dame game. The regulars scored on the second team twice, Dorsey kicking two field goals from the 30 and 42 yard lines.

The officials selected for the game are: Referee, McCormack, of Dartmouth; umpire, Bachman, of Indiana; field judge, Hoyt, of Dartmouth; head linesman, Stoffel, of Chicago; timekeeper, Cassidy, of Illinois.

RESULT IS IN DOUBT.

Outcome of South Bend-Goshen Game is a Question.

South Bend's high school team and the Goshen eleven will struggle for supremacy on the Tonawanda gridiron at Goshen to-morrow at 2:30. For two years the local boys have been victorious, but this year the result of the contest is in doubt, both teams are confident of victory. All yesterday afternoon the coach worked the local lads on trick plays and on the forward and defensive work in which they are proficient. A large crowd from South Bend, will accompany the team and many will go for a reception given by several members of the Goshen team at their home.

The probable line-up for the team will be: Shannfield, l. e.; Littlefield, l. t.; Gross, l. g.; Koenig, Stoyburg, c.; Ford r. g.; Kale, r. t.; Carlson, r. e.; Hopkins, Sullivan, l. h.; Lindsay, r. h.; Pearson (Capt.), f. b.; Kirby, f. b.

LOCAL CAR HAS CLEAN SCORE.

Studebaker Machine Goes Over Route Without Penalty.

Twenty-three of the 35 cars which started in the Chicago Motor club's reliability run to South Bend held perfect records at the end of the run. To-day the motorists will go to Rockford and Chicago. The run to-day is the Chicago Record-Herald race.

"One of the pleasantest features of the trip was the hospitality extended by the Studebaker people at their big garage in South Bend. J. M. Studebaker and George M. Studebaker, greeted the tourists cordially. Cal. Studebaker was particularly "in fine" touched on the run by some of the wayfarers seemed better than a 15-course Thanksgiving Day spread.

"The Studebaker car made a fine run. Cal. Studebaker, who is a good luck mascot, Cal. Studebaker thought the car which bears his name made the first half of the run a little too swiftly, and more time was taken on the run home."

TERRIFIC OLD-TIME BATTLE WHEN JACK M'AULIFFE PUT OUT MEYER

MYER CLINCHED TO SAVE HIMSELF.

BY GEORGE R. FOULKE.

When the Olympic club, of New Orleans, matched Lightweight Champion Jack McAuliffe and Billy Myer, the "Streator Cyclone," for a special bout in the Crescent City carnival, in 1891, it was conceded that the best evenly matched, men of the class had been signed up.

Totally different in style, they long had been the leading lightweights, and in 1889 gave evidence repeatedly to argue upon the respective merits of the pair.

Cabs, carriages, furniture wagons, every conceivable vehicle was in evidence on the night of the fight, which crowned the carnival. The fighters were five-pound girls. McAuliffe weighed 137¼, pounds and Myer quarter of a pound less.

The Battle.

1. In leading for the stomach, McAuliffe fell. As he arose, Myer leaded for the face and missed. Both were cautious, but the champion's aggressive He landed left on the nose and got away. Coming back he forced Myer to the ropes, where they clinched.

2. McAuliffe led for the stomach and caught Myer in which, returning the compliment as he did so. They mixed hard in the center of the ring. Myer on the defensive. Jack forced Myer into a backhand hook on the jaw, and then drove his opponent to the ropes in the same point. They clinched. Myer landed hard in the breakaway. Jack countering on nose with left and dropping Myer with a terrific right to the eye. Myer stood groggy. Jack rushed in and drove Myer back to the rope with shower of hard right and left to face.

3. McAuliffe landed right and Myer clinched around the hips, treating the hard jab. Jack rushed Myer back against the ropes with left to nose and in a clinch Myer landed several times. Both were weak, but the champion was strongest and put several lefts to stomach and right to jaw. Myer

4. Somersaut recuperative powers saved Myer.

5. McAuliffe landed on head and fucked a swing. A moment later he almost went down from right to head. Both landed lightly on stomach and Myer ended round by forcing Jack to forehand and successful hook from a left to side of head. The play was terrific.

6. A heavy left to stomach made Jack groggy. He almost fell. They clinched. Jack getting in a right to the stomach, and Myer landed left on face and left hand Jack put hard right to face.

7. They clinched immediately and Myer tried to assume offensive by fast hook to face and stomach. Jack left to face and Myer ended round being half thrown, half knocked down.

8. McAuliffe forced the pace, fast mixing terrific right for point of jaw and stomach with a hard left swing, knocking Myer. Myer fell from exhaustion and refused to arise. Jack ran in cross and went down from shower of lefts and rights.

10. McAuliffe continued to force the pace. Myer was cautious, but landed hard on stomach and face. Jack ducked and doubled the punishment back.

11. They sparred. Myer being punished heavily. In a hard rally Myer clinched to save himself.

12. Jack landed hard for Myer's stomach and landed often.

13. A left to the face made Myer flinch. Jack walked around. Myer backing away. Jack's right for head was blocked, but he put across a hard left to nose.

14. McAuliffe swung hard on jaw, forcing Myer to ropes with shower of lefts on head. Myer suddenly showed a flash of speed and raised blow after blow on Jack, but without effect.

15. A left to the jaw dropped Myer and as he arose and steadied himself, McAuliffe whipped across a savage right that landed full on Myer's jaw, putting him down and out.
