Newspapers by Ancestry
https://www.newspapers.com/image/513583560

Downloaded on Oct 18, 2022

PAT ADDS TWO MORE

LINDSAY DEFEATS THE CRABS TWICE IN A DAY.

FOIL PLAN TO STEAL GAME

Champs' Efforts to Draw Contest Over Agreed-on Time Frustrated—Keener Hurt and Forced to Retire.

Crab, crab, crab,
When through, begin all o'er,
Blue may beat 'ill he gets tired,
For we won three out of four.*
* Thank you, Alfred.

The former champs, present crabs, made their farewell appearance here yesterday and pleased the multitude by dropping both ends of a double header to the heroes, which gives the home crowd three out of four on the just completed series. The blue came on Saturday but was more than made up for by the particularly nice wins of Sunday. And as Patrick Lindsay, the league's beer chasing chaser, goes the honor of having defeated Bliss & Bunch in the three victories while Eugene Moore gets the loss.

The second contest Sunday was the harder to win in spite of the fact that the score was overwhelmingly in favor of the home bunch, for the crabs gave a highly interesting example of how to spoil fun and kill joy by delaying the game, but the nefarious plans of the champs were frustrated by the skillful-striking work of the home gang.

By agreement it was decided to call the second battle at 2:30 in order that the visiting aggregation might catch a train for home at 5:30. Owing to the score was against the champs in such measure, that they deemed it impossible to even up they tried the various methods they knew of of stringing out the game so that the last half inning would be struck before the required four and a half hours were gone through. To counteract this sort of playing the locals did the only thing they possibly could do, they put in a big batch of five balls they purchased out of pocket. Six of them were lessened in succession and then when the visitors had their turn in the first part of the fifth and the game was nearly over, the home team swung a few more balls into the bleachers by driving three more over the plate. That left the score 8 to 6, while in the first game it was 3 to 3.

Keener Laid Out.

In the first game Roy Keener was forced to give up a chance for a home run when Lindsay drove in the fourth round after the first two Grand Rapids batters had followed the method laid down by the nine preceding ones and died without a struggle, Keener being unable to reach the first base line. Hayworth gloomed the shot all right and he and Keener started for the bag. Lefty scared them both out of the pitcher and first mackers arrived simultaneously with Keener. Keener was the loser. He cleared nary an inch and Lefty had disentangled, it was seen that Roy was lying with his face on the clay dead to the world. The collision had winded him, but he was cautioned enough to stay down and Lefty had disappointed