SPLIT IN THRILLERS

SOUTH BEND AND EVANSVILLE DIVIDE EXCITING GAMES.

KILLEN SLOUGHED BY BUG

Umpire Attacked by Rabid Fan Who Knocks Him Out With Umbrella —Haywoth Behind the Bat.

The Tribune's Special Service.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 17.—South Bend and Evansville divided evenly in a couple of thrillers here yesterday, the chief feature of double combat being the fact that Umpire Killen was knocked unconscious by a spectator who used a large umbrella for the purpose. Near the end of the second game, when a gallant rally by the north state people had won the game for them, Killen gave Grant the decision on a close play and the Punchers raised a howl. Killen was attacked by several fans and one of them, a fan named Louis Stock, aged about 45, rapped him over the bun with a silver handled rain stick. The blow was a hard one and Killen hit the dirt, there being considerable excitement. He continued to follow the lead set by Stock and would have done serious damage to the umps had not the police and players interfered. Killen finally recovered sufficiently to resume his duties.

Both locals took the first game, which was bitterly fought, by hitting Williams at opportune times. Charlie Bastow was the large noise in the contest right from the start and his batting and fielding were a big factor in the two runs over the pan. In the fielding department Chritz played brilliantly too.

The visitors made a strong rally and tied the game in the fifth inning. Thomas singled, stole second and scored on Bush's drive to right.

The Punchers found Williams for enough bingles to win out in the seventh.

Jaeger pitched well and held the visitors safe most of the way through. His hits were all they could find him for and Bush got three of the six. Wheeler was the most dangerous batter for the visitors. Fast fielding good hits kept them out of danger a good deal of the time.

The visitors and locals split up on hits in the second contest, but Grant's men were able to bunch them nicely and themselves with the stick in the winning of the final session, though they had them shut out until the ninth. Some good batting put over a run in this round, which tied up the score, the Punchers having scored one run in the fourth to the sixth. Martin was a big problem for the local hitters and though they secured nine bingles they were sprecked over the game and they were unable to get anything together at one time to score a clinker.

Jack Kelly was put behind the bat for the first time this year and caught well for one somewhat out of practice and out of his regular position into one to which he was not accustomed. Mahoney took his place on the first sacks.

It really looked like a shutout for the visitors until the ninth, when the South Bend crowd began to hit Willis and Martin for a couple of bingles. Willis, however, was tied down in the 10th and scored two runs by another good rally. It was in the extra round that Killen made his decision which started the trouble. Stock and his friends were arrested after the game and may be brought up charged with disorderly conduct before the local courts today. Score:

PLAN TRACK RACES

BALTIMORE AUTOISTS ARRANGE TO HAVE MEET.

WILL GET A. A. A. SANCTION

National Body to Exercise Control Over Proposed Contests—Spencer Writes of Motor Topics.

BY F. ED. SPOONER.

New York, Aug. 17.—And now Baltimore is to get into the track racing game. From the City of Monuments comes the news that the organization has been effected of the Motor Car Racing association, all the members of which are members of the Automobile club of Maryland. The new association has secured from the racing board of the A. A. A. sanction for a race meet to be held on Labor Day at the Gentlemen's Driving park. The is only a half-mile track but it is considered one of the best in the country. The programme will include a 50-mile championship for stripped touring cars; a 10 mile race for cars costing $2,000 or less; a 10 mile handicap for cars costing $2,000 and 10 miles for cars costing $1,500 or less; also a five mile free-for-all race and a five mile runabout championship.

This will be the first meet planned ever held in Baltimore, and the first sanctioned meet of any kind held there in three years. A handsome line of silver cups has been donated and the winning driver of the 50 mile race will also receive a gold prize. The committee in charge of the meet is headed by Messrs. Thomas G. Young and Edward A. Cassidy, both well known in automobile circles both in Baltimore and New York. Fred Wagner, the official starter of the Vanderbilt cup race, received the entries and judges will be selected from members of the Automobile club of Maryland.

In the historical retrospect, 1897 will probably figure as the year in which the American built motor car made its first appearance on the road. Indeed, in bearing car creeds, on both road and track, the domestic made car has been triumphant over the imported type, and the chief premium of the Vanderbilt cup race, the property of his estate, was appropriated when a big corporation proceeded to build cars here from imported materials. Undoubtedly there will be ways and means devised to circumvent and attempt at another "imported" salon," or separate show, makes an effort to revive interest in them, but at present the American product seems to have the foreigners on the run.

Now the American Automobile association is not taking a vacation this summer, but has had the reins of control over the sport taken from it by the promoters with which it has to deal. Nevertheless, the 24-hour race held in Chicago on July 12-13 Although no formal protest is in hand, A. R. Pomlington, acting chairman, is sitting in the bottom all the reports of inaccurate scoring at the race.

HE PLAYS THE GAME.

The sporting editor is a believer in sports of all kinds, but especially manly sports. He is an enthusiastic "bug" and always boosts the home team, but simple duke on football and he always gives the opposing team a fair show. He actively participates in that strenuous and invigorating pastime known as croquet. It is said that he holds the record for long distance playing.

FREDDIE FLIP, THE PEST.

From the Brewer to the Consumer

Our bottled beer, as applied to the trade in this city is especially convenient for family use and every season marks an increased demand for it as a home beverage.

It is not generally known, but the demand for bottled beer has grown by leaps and bounds during the past few years. The modern public wants its commodities supplied in handy form—its crackers and pretzels in sealed boxes, its fruit in cans, its beer in bottles. Ten years ago there was comparatively little beer bottled at the breweries. To-day the bottled output is enormous.

The demand for our product is ever increasing and we expect to break all previous records this season as to volume of output.

DRINK MUESSEL BEER

You will find it not only a life-sustaining food, but a beverage highly pleasing to the taste; a real luxury within the reach of every purse.

Orders for bottled beer receive our prompt attention. Deliveries are made from the brewery direct to your door, in pints or quarts, as desired.
