ARNDT WILL COACH

NOTRE DAME UNIVERSITY SELECTS FORMER GREEN.

EXPECTS A WINNING TEAM

To Remain at the College Until He Reports For Practice at St. Louis —Expect a Winning Team.

Harry Arndt, a South Bend boy and a member of the St. Louis National league team, will coach the Notre Dame baseball team. He began his duties yesterday. He will remain at the university until he reports to St. Louis in the spring.

A few years ago Arndt was picked up by Angus Grant and played for a time with the old Greens. He made a great success of baseball and is now one of the best second or third basemen in the business. After leaving the Greens he went to the Michigan league where he played for about two years when he was signed by the Detroit American league team. He played with the outlaws for a while when he was picked up by the manager of the St. Louis team. Arndt like many other first-class ball players owes considerable of his success to Angus Grant, the former minor league manager in the Indiana.

Arndt's friends did not have much of an opportunity to see his good work until the St. Louis Nationals played the Greens here at the close of last season.

Notre Dame's baseball squad got a wooding out yesterday and the number of candidates was reduced about one-half, leaving some 15 candidates trying for places. Those who were the most conspicuous in showing up the ability during the part week were taken off the squad. Batting was begun yesterday and every effort will be made to turn out a team of hitters.

Considerable talk is made in the Scholastic, the college paper at Notre Dame, that a call would be issued for track candidate in the near future, and that Draper would likely be chosen to handle the men.

NEWS OF THE DIAMOND.

Grills Signs Kane and Jude For Toledo Team.

Negotiations started some days ago were successfully brought to a close yesterday by Ed. Grills when he signed Frank Jude and George Kane for the Toledo team next year. Jude is the noted Carlisle Indian player and Kane is the young collegian who attracted so much attention in the east with Georgetown university, his college.

After a session lasting several hours it was decided last night at the annual meeting of the Kentucky-Indiana-Tennessee Baseball league at St. Louis, Mo., to drop the franchises held by Princeton, Ind., and Hopkinsville, Ky. Three towns, East St. Louis, Jacksonville and Mattoon, all in Illinois, were granted the franchises. Applications for the two vacancies and a decision will be made to-morrow. The league decided to accept D classification in the national minor league organization.

Catcher Fred Lake, the dinest "fungo hitter" in any league, is managing The Lowell team in the New England league and doing well at it. Lake was with Cincinnati in the 90's and has been back on him. He rarely struck out, but usually drove out a long fly right into an outfielder's hand. And that, in baseball nomenclature, is "fungo" hitting.

Jim O'Rourke has been playing baseball continuously for 19 years. It is estimated that he has faced the pitcher 19,000 times. He has traveled 3,000 times on the base lines, has spoken cross to the umpire seven times, drank 1,000 bottles of pop, smoked 1,000 "bookies" 41 times, was bombed 141 times and had 3,576,042 different expressions of disapproval hurled at him by the bleachers.

Manager Chance is trying to buy a franchise in the Central league, but Comiskey is averse to letting him get away from Chicago. The pecuniary success of John Gansel with his Grand Rapids team has turned many eyes toward Ben in hunting in the interests of several aspiring players.

In Chicago the belief is still strong that when the umpire calls "play ball" next April Mike Kelly will be in the grand stand with the White Sox. Comiskey is entertaining the subtle suspicion that Jimmy's proposed city league will evaporate in thin air.

American association magnates are worrying because a number of minor leagues in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Ohio region where the outlaw league flourishes, and the outlaws are making suggestive winks and knowing nods of the head at them. The A. A. follows that they may lose some of their best cities.

A New York gang prints a story to the effect that Tim Murnel, the umpire, has retired. That writer evidently thought that Murnel was dead, for he had he would know that there is nothing retiring about him. He always stays for the big show and he will be on hand when the season opens to wrap the "play ball" cry on the front door of the "play ball" shop.

Comiskey is negotiating a deal with St. Louis, Mo., for George Stone by which he is to give Dundon, Grover and Rohe and $1,000 for the hard hitting member of the Browns.

Frank Selee, manager of the Chicago Cubs, announced yesterday that he had signed another promising pitcher in the person of Walter Moeller, who finished last season with the Toronto team, ball enders in the Eastern league.

GOSSIP OF THE HORSES.

Handmaiden, a 15 to 1 Shot, Wins Easily at Ascot Park.

Handmaiden, winner of the 3-year-old race at Los Angeles, Cal., yesterday, was the medium of a big coup. Backed from 15 to 1 to 1 to 1, she won easily. Monogram at 20 to 1 was another long priced winner in the mile and a 16th event. Favorites were successful in three of the six races.

The short course steeplechase at City park, New Orleans, La., yesterday was attended by a sad accident when Archibald, bill of Charmaid, the favorite, had to be landed at the south jump, and Judge Nolan's rider shared the same fate. T. Powers, who rode Lionel, broke a stirrup leather and pulled up. Minnie Adkins, who made a hit at the Oakland track, Cal., Saturday and Carmen were the winning favorites.

The programme at San Francisco yesterday was above the average for the winter. The feature was the fine victory of Quickrick, as he was heavily played from 3 to 1 down to 4 to 5. The play was warranted, as the 3-year-old just breezed all the way from Frolic getting the place from Master Polo, a horse that was sold at Baltimore, Md., but fail to satisfy a trainer's attachment of $10 against his winnings, made good the boast of his new owner, Mrs. L. S. Pandin, by winning the Sweepstakes, a mile dash, at Jockey Club park, New Orleans, La., yesterday afternoon.

The Dreamland has truck at New York, home of the Brooklyn Jockey Club, and the Bronx, home of the Jockey Club, and after the season of 1906 the famous Brooklyn Jockey stables will be transferred to the Aqueduct course, a memorial interest in which was purchased by Harry F. Dwyer last winter.

GOSSIP OF THE CENTRAL.

Caspar Nunn Thus Examples Dickerson's Views.

The Detroit News gives exception to the article in the Grand Rapids Press in regard to the possible pennant winner and in the new schedule which Editor Dickerson says the Darling Cubs, Springfield and Terre Haute teams will make in the race. The article in the Press said:

"It would be safe betting that before July first Detroit will change her opinion somewhat. The Springfield team, which is made up of only four or five, will fall out of the race. Grand Rapids has not a chance in the world for the pennant. Terre Haute is the team to be seen only by the critics of the Western and July. Jackson will go the fastest race he ever went, until the end of the race, the first second and third the blue blood. Jackson will be benefited by forced wagons. So far as the Cubs team is concerned Dolly Gray is doing a lot that is stirring enough for about two months. Dolly is a good ball player himself and has got all over Jackson as a ball player."

The Grand Rapids Mich. Press is authority for the following: By the order of the Western Association at a meeting held in Springfield last July Jackson will go the fastest race he ever went, until the end of the race, the first second and third the blue blood. Jackson will be benefited by forced wagons. So far as the Cubs team is concerned Dolly Gray is doing a lot that is stirring enough for about two months. Dolly is a good ball player himself and has got all over Jackson as a ball player."

NEWS OF THE PUGILISTS.

Gans a Busy Trying to Get a Match With Britt.

With the hope of inducing Jimmy Britt to fight him, Joe Gans, the present holder of the lightweight championship title, has wired to his manager, Nunn, Philadelphia, Pa., and has telling him to have up Britt and offer to pay him $5,000 to fight and will get the decision over him if they come together in a fair and square fight in the future.

Terry McGovern, who is at Chicago, said, it, with a theatrical company, says that there is doubt about the fight between himself and Battling Nelson taking place. He says that McGovern is willing to fight Joe Gans for a fight, if, and after the championship, he does tend to get it will have to beat Gans and see no reason why it should not be considered with the defeat.

Joe Gans has rubbed a little more salt into the wounds of Jimmy Britt's pride. He says that if Britt takes in any schedule fights between now and April Nelson will not be permitted to be one of the opponents. This is a blunder, Gans says, because if Britt was the champion he would not care to see the fact made more apparent of refusing to meet him for the championship.

Joe Walcott was ordered from the ring in the fifth round of his fight with Jeffries because he was taking a fight. The referee overhead the two fighters talking while in a clinch, and as they had repeatedly missed swings at each other he ordered the fight stopped, but, it about time to send the Barbadoes boy home to rest.

LE TABAC EST L'AMI DE L'HOMME.

French Proverb That Proves Half True in South Bend.

There is a French proverb "Tobacco is the friend of man," that is more true than the average. Man is the only animal that chews. Monkeys have indicated that in all other ways are selfishness a reasons for liquors, but they never could be taught chewing. Smoking is a distinctly masculine pleasure, but chewing is for the sex of the feminine gender. Tobacco is the thing for the man to carry for and ready for any time. STORIES OF DIAMOND.

AIN'T THERE NO CIRCUS HERE?

As experienced bettor Capt. Adrian C. Anson during the around-the-world trip of the famous Chicago All American in 1888 that brought amusement for the other members of the party for several days. It was the night before Winding to see the town for night, Anson had his wife pick a carriage and started for a theater. They drove along the upside down main street to a gaudy looking structure, the grounds brilliantly lighted and with crowd swarming excitedly from the streets to the "theater."

"Come, drive on," Anson said to the Farsian in the front seat, "this place is here."

The driver, who understood no English, whipped his horses and the world, Mrs. Anson, anxious the "theater" and Anson, the "circus."

"Circus, did you say? Why, we are looking for a good old-fashioned circus."

He motioned the driver to stop and jumped out of the carriage. Anson had to follow the lead of his wife and was filled with music, while half a dozen men like a lower market.

"Circus, circus, circus," he shouted, "circus! circus! circus!
