PITTSBURG PLAYING FINE BALL

Pirates Expect to Win One Hundred Games This Season—National League Average for August—Dreyfus Will Back Them.

The records of grand slam in the National League show that for 10 years past no champion team has won a hundred games in one season. With three very early starts in the league, the first has been won in three times when they have won 100 in the first 100 games.

The Pirates have played 65 games to date and have won 45. Of the games they have to play they will win with only 10 to reach the century mark of 100. This percentage will compare favorably with any other team in the National League. The Pirates have won 45 out of 65 games and lost 20. The Chicago players of every game that year their record would have been over a 100.
