VAN DER HEYDEN, VINE CLASH FRIDAY

MEET IN TOP BATTLE OVER 10-ROUND TRIP

Studebaker Arena to Be Scene of Ring Tiff.

BY DAVE GALLEY.
Tribune Sports Writer.

How much has George Van der Heyden learned about fighting since he hifted Billy Locke around the Lippincott ring a year ago? This question will be answered next Friday night in the same Lippincott arena when the straight-faced blond mauller takes aim at Lou Vine, a veteran gladiator of over 100 battles who is reported to have spent his boyhood days in this city.

This question will be answered if Georgie is in shape and Georgie should be in shape because he is doing a lot of bag-punching, rope-skipping and sparring in the Studebaker clubrooms in an effort to get that way.

Georgie is the local boy who made good after a short apprenticeship in professional pugilism. His fighting heart and flailing mittens have described a winding roadway through Michigan and Illinois. Four times he has retraced his steps out of South Bend returning here by professional wares to the home folk.

Beat Billy Locke.

His first appearance against Locke, whom he beat in 10 rounds, was impressive, his second against Jimmy Lamberson, whom he also beat in 10 rounds, a little less impressive. His third return to South Bend, when he again met Lamberson and was held to a draw, was a downright disappointment. Under the management of Otto Bruce, Lippincott booking agent who was following more than that old downhill.

Then Van der Heyden set up quarters in South Bend under the supervision of Eddie Ardos who had first coached him to international amateur fame. Ardos revived some of George's lost talent and he was again matched with Locke. In the fourth local performance Van der Heyden conclusively proved that he had some stuff.

Joins C. Y. O. Unit.

Since then Van der Heyden has joined the Catholic Youth Organization's professional training unit under the management of Pat Kassaily and made quite a dent in the lightweight division in and around the Windy City.

George has had 34 fights since turning professional, 16 of them having been fought in Chicago. Out of the 34 he lost a decision to Orville Drouiard, Canadian featherweight champ, in Detroit, and one to Sailor Born, in Chicago, whom he has since defeated in a return bout.

Vine, whom George is certain to meet a tough customer, Vine, who has been in the game for many more years that George, recently battled the latter to a six-round draw in Chicago and George will tell you that it was no too party in the ring that night. "Vine knows all the tricks," said George as he knocked some stuffing out of a hole in the big bag. "You can't see all of them from the ringside but you can feel them when you're fighting him."

Among other accomplishments Vine has knocked out Young Corbett Tavey Jay, Al Singer and broken even in two matches with Sammy Mandell, former lightweight champion. He has lost two decisions to Harmy Rosa, present welterweight champion and former lightweight title-holder.

Learned a Few Things.

Van der Heyden himself will tell you that he has learned a bit more about timing his own punches as well as those of his opponents since fighting here a year ago. He feels more at home in there with the professionals than he did a year ago and can make his way around the ring with greater confidence.

"What are you trying to develop more than anything else," George was asked.

"I'm trying to learn how to box," he grinned.

"Do you think you can knock Vine out?"

"I don't think much about knockouts these days," he replied. "In this weight (135 pounds) you don't knock many boys out that are in good shape. I do my fighting and if the knockout comes, all right, if not, I'm glad to get the decision."

George has won five of his 34 fights by knockouts.

A. A. A. ORDERS HEADGEARS FOR SPEED DEMONS

INDIANAPOLIS, June 22. — Crash helmets must be worn in the future by all drivers participating in races sponsored by the contest board of the American Automobile association.

The new rule requires a helmet which looks like that worn in the tropics, cushioned to protect the skulls of pilots in the event of a spill. The helmets will replace the cloth hood formerly worn by race drivers.

PARADOXICAL PITCHING.

By Associated Press.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 22.—Ambrose Murray, Brown university southpaw pitcher, is stingy with hits but lavish with other favors to enemy batsmen. Against Northeastern he allowed nary a hit but issued 12 bases on balls and hit one batter as Brown won, 23 to 2.

British Open Links Escapes Jacket Menace

By Associated Press.

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, June 22.—The scourge of "leather-jackets" which has wreaked havoc with hundreds of the best golf courses of England and Scotland in recent months, fortunately has been escaped by Muirfield, where the British Open will open here Monday.

Only a few of the insects which have ravaged other courses have been seen at Muirfield, and there they have caused no damage to fairways and greens. The championship course, in fact, probably is in the finest condition it has seen in the eve of a big event, with plenty of grass everywhere.

The drought of the last year, combined with an exceptionally mild winter, are believed to have been responsible for the heavy vintiation of the insects. Some courses have had their fairways eaten almost bare and have saved their greens only by constant attention.

The "leatherjacket" is the larvae of the familiar "daddy-long-legs," and appears literally in millions after a spring in which there has been no killing frost. Several tons of them were brought out of the ground by chemicals and destroyed at the Royal Lytham and St. Anne's club shortly before the recent British Amateur.

YOUNG SPRINTER BEATS METCALFE

Packard, Rockford Youth, Outlegs Negro Flash.

By United Press.

EVANSTON, Ill., June 22.—Ralph Metcalfe, world's fastest human a year ago, started up the road back today only to be beaten by a high school youth.

With his right leg bandaged and limping slightly, Metcalfe lost the 200-meter dash by inches to Bob Packard, a Rockford, Ill. high school boy, in the annual Northwestern A. A. U. meet at Dyche stadium. Packard's time of 20.9 seconds broke the existing meet record by 1.2 seconds.

Unbeatable a year ago, Metcalfe was unable to display the form which won him a dozen championships. Although always a slow starter, Metcalfe was no longer retained his flying finish.

Despite the heavy going five new track records and one field were established. Besides Packard's record breaking performance in the 200-meter dash new marks were set in the 400 and 1500 meter runs, the 200 and 400 meter low hurdles, and the 56-pound weight throw.

James Shanahan, perennial central A. A. U. 56-pound weight champion, rounded out a quarter of a century of competition by winning the event for the 25th time. Shanahan, who is 46 years old, heaved the 56-pound weight 43 feet and three-eighth inches to the new record.

Lonnie Ross, Illinois, set a new meet record in the 400 meter dash of 50.1 seconds. Harold Longman, also of Ogden park, broke the record in the 1500 meter run with his time of 4:13. Oliver Duggins, Northwestern university, coasted to an easy win and a new record in the 400 meter hurdles in 53.2 seconds. John Brooks, formerly of the University of Chicago, won the 200 meter hurdles in the record breaking time of 23.7 seconds.

GRIFFITH STILL HAS MONEY HE GOT ON CRONIN

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 22. — At least $175,000 of the quarter-million Clark Griffith got for Joe Cronin when he sold his shortstop-manager to Tom Yawkey and Boston Red Sox, still rests in the bank in Griffith's credit.

Griffith turned loose a reported $50,000 for pitcher Bump Hadley, both purchased from the St. Louis Browns. Another estimated $10,000 was spent on Griffith's minor league chain.

Yale Oarsmen Hand Harvard Crew Worst Loss Since '94

BY JACK CURRY.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 22 —A powerful, "swinging" Yale varsity crew surged up the river Thames today and gave Harvard's eight the worst beating suffered by any Crimson varsity shell since 1894, as the Elis completed a four-event sweep for the second straight year in their annual regatta.

Coach Ed Leader's Blue oarsmen finished the Harvard upstream course nearly a quarter mile ahead of the ragged boatload sent out by Charlie Whitaside, of Harvard. The Yale crew approached the up-stream course record with a clocking of 20 minutes 19 seconds, just 2-5 second slower than the record of 20:18.2 established by another great Yale crew in 1926.

Win by 43 Seconds.

The Blue crew from New Haven defeated the Harvard oarsmen by 43 seconds. The Crimson craft recording 21:04 to cover the course. This was the worst margin of defeat for any Johnny eight since 1894 when the Elis finished 52½ seconds ahead of Harvard.

Stroking upriver from the New London railroad bridge to Harlett's Cove, Yale registered its 26th victory in their 75l regatta, oldest of American collegiate sports fixtures.

The four-mile test was slated originally to be rowed downstream at 7 p. m. Friday, but wind and rough water caused postponement until this forenoon.

Yale had by two lengths at the half-mile. Meanwhile the Harvard eight—which lacked the "swing," the perfect synchronization of Yale's oarsmen—had had its troubles. Rough water, and only difficulties before the half-mile mark was reached. For a short time Harvard's No. 5 man seemed unable to lift his oar out of the water, throwing the entire starboard side out of stride.

Yale Gains Again.

Shortly past the half-mile, Coxswain E. H. Bennett, managed to get his sweep-swingers back into rhythm again. But even after that Ed Simmons, of Baltimore, making his debut as stroke in any kind of race, failed to get the flawless cooperation from his men as did the Yale stroke, J. C. Castle, of Honolulu.

After the half-mile it became a two-boat race between Yale and Harvard for first place. The Yale gallery boats were three lengths behind the mile, five at the mile and a half, six at the submarine base half-way mark, eight lengths at the 2½-mile flag, nine at the three mile. And then the observers quit counting lengths as the stretch of water between the boats increased to nearly a quarter of a mile at the finish.

Both crews averaged a stroke of about 32 from the first half mile to the finish.

TOURNEY WON BY MARIAN MILEY

Beats Miss Berg for Trans-Sipp Golf Championship.

By United Press.

OMAHA, Neb., June 22.—With a sensational sub-par burst of small, Miss Marian Miley, comely Kentucky state champion, today won the trans-Mississippi golf tournament for women.

She defeated Miss Patty Jane Berg, 17-year-old Minneapolis school girl, by a score of 9 and 7 on the finals this afternoon.

A large gallery was thrilled when Miss Miley, a slender blonde girl turned in a third-round score of 81. She was one stroke under men's par for the course and six under the perfect mark for women.

Miss Berg also shot a sub-par third round, scoring a 38.

The match ended on the 29th green. Miss Miley stroked her tee shot three on the 28th and a par four on the 29th. Patty Jane used up five strokes on each hole.

Miss Miley's consistency was her main weapon. She was par for every hole, although she frequently was in the rough after tee shots. Her recoveries were an important factor in the victory.

The same brilliant type of golf brought her through the semi-final match yesterday against the wife of Maj. Opal P. Hill, of Kansas City, defending champion and four times trans-Mississippi titlist.

Miss Berg played some of the finest golf in her brief career in the morning round of the finals to control her booming tee shots put her underneath early in the game. She had great distance on her drives, but could not center the fairways and compete with the methodical Kentuckian.

A contributing factor to Miss Berg's erratic drives was blistered hands. Her nervousness from the bad start in the forenoon play was intensified when word was flashed to the courageous youngster that her father was ill in Minneapolis.

CUBS DEFEAT BRAVES TWICE

NEW YORK, June 22.—Pittsburg's challenging Pirates shattered the Giants' five-game winning streak today, but after taking a 5 to 4 defeat in the 11 inning opening battle the league leaders came back to the victory trail again and won the second game of a doubleheader 7 to 3.

The even break cost the Pirates second place in the standing as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Phillies twice and moved up a notch.

After bowing to Ralph Birkofer's southpaw stints for seven innings in the first game and having nine men retired on strikes, the Giants suddenly leaped into the fray in the eighth when Hank Leiber clouted his eighth homer of the season behind singles by Paul Waner and Jo Jo Moore.

In the second clash Hal Schumacher pitched steady right-hit ball to get his second straight victory and his ninth of the year, while big Jim Weaver and Hoyt were the victims of the Giants' 14-hit assault.

Collins' first four-base hit came in the opening game. The blow sent another hit, a double, drove in four runs—enough for the triumph.

Walker, on the mound for the Cards, gained his sixth victory when he limited the Phils to seven scattered hits.

In the second contest, Paul Dean stopped a four-run rally by the Phillies in the ninth inning. He had replaced Bill Hallahan who could not protect a five-run lead.

Through the heart of several midwest states along the band of the "Mississippi Flyway" migration routes the birds are scurrying northward, hardly garbed in brilliant courting attire.

Game officials ponder the question of a dwindling supply versus shooting season this fall, waterfowl conservationists in Minnesota and elsewhere predict the latter.
