Newspapers by Ancestry
https://www.newspapers.com/image/513985274

Downloaded on Oct 18, 2022

PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS BEST CENTRAL CHAMPS, —3-1

BRONCHOS LOSE TO ATHLETICS, 3 TO 1

PAT PITCHES GOOD BALL, BUT IS WILD.

HARTSEL HITTING STAR

Carey Clouts Sphere for Wheelerites and Shows Class on Sacks—Kotlin Whales Double and Tally Results.

Bedad, and Patrick had some stuff on the ol' ball, and he pitched, he did that! If Pat had had control yesterday he would have given the Athletics just a little more than a run for their money. The little southpaw was in the finest of trim, apparently, except his tendency to wildness, which compelled him to stick them right over at times. When the Broncs were forced to do that the visitors fell in to generally recorded, when a team from a high class league plays in a city, that the men from the next rung or so in the ladder are just 'monkeying with our boys.' That may be so it may, but the boys higher up always like to get a good healthy swing at the ball, and the pitcher who holds them down to three runs, with his team-mates giving him doubtful support, is performing in rare minor league form.

Pat was not supported in the earlier periods of the game as he should have been, several infield balls going for hits, and Carey's error in the second. Mac seemed a bit shy yesterday with Miss Sphere, but at that gave her several whirls across the grass plot.

The initial frame saw Pat tested for the first time, the last several swings against Hartsel, first man up, when the cotton top connected with a chunk of the leather, and Carey, Kotlin and Lindsay performed the pinky of arrangement in his usual high class style, waved him out at second on his attempt to steal. Patsy caused the next two to miss fire on the foul swing. No runs.

How it Happened.

Nine, fouled out to Donahue. Kocher grounded out to Collins. Weisenborn club gently kissed the breeze. No runs.

Second inning. The Combos got away with a few infield drives in this frame scoring one run thereby. McInnis led off with one flag he beat out. He was caught napping however, when Pat fanned Schaefer, McInnis in the direction of the first sack and was soon hitting the trail for the plate. Murphy's hit to left shorting him up a notch. Kocher then allowed Derrick's grounder to escape him and Davis pounded the pelts for home. Murphy struck for third, but Wagoh threw the out at the bar station. The brother of Jiggs of White Sox fame, then fanned Wheelock, Murphy succeeded in adding another strike-out to Pat's string. One run.

Wheelock fled to right. McInnis gathered in Schenick's fly and Scoops Carey fanned. Davis, Kotlin walked, stole, and threw the speed boy out at first. No runs.

The third inning brought nothing in the way of scores to either side. Kotlin, Lindsay and Davis threw him out. Pat took care of Harper, but ridding got on with a single. He stole and went to third on Wolz' wild pop but Yoder caught the Weisenborn lad when he headed for the plate. No runs.

McCarthy had the honor of slipping the first single across the plate in this inning, Collins following Pat's unofficial hit. Davis, Kocher walked, filling the sacks. Kocher and Wheeler were out, via the pig route. No runs.

Fourth inning. Pat fanned Schaefer. Murphy followed. McInnis hit out to short, and Davis's wizard drive was taken care of by Lindsay. No runs.

In her half South Bend failed to duplicate the feat of the visitors, Kotlin, Lindsay, the mahers, and two hits were chalked up to the Central champs. Weisenborn who did not show up to his usual form at anytime during the game, fanned. Kocher, Wheeler lined out a safety and George responded to a stimulus caused by the presentation of a fifty dollar bill for cracking the board in the bull eight inches from the sphere, and the drive past third. He scored, the Bonger reached the second sack in safety. Mac could not recall his visit of the previous inning, sitting on easy chair, and Davis was grounded out to Davis. No runs.

Connies Score Second Tally.

Fifth—Murphy accepted transportation, Derrick flew out to left Donahue cracked out a neat one to left, and second and third were secured, when Harper fanned. Lindsay walked, McHarper fanned. Lindsay walked, McHarper fanned. Lindsay walked, McHar