NEWS OF MISHAWAKA

MR. AND MRS. CASSIUS LA MONTE DISAPPEAR FROM CITY.

SERVICES IN THE CHURCHES

Record of Accident—Social Affairs in Brief—Miss Mabel Williams to Sing Her Own Composition—Personal and Local.

BUREAU OF THE TRIBUNE, No. 110 S. MAIN ST. TEL. 84, MISHAWAKA, IND., AUG. 1.

Cassius LaMonte, a dark, tall and rather distinguished looking man, came to this city several months ago from New York and secured a position as foreman of the machine department of the Western Gas Engine company. He appeared to be an expert machinist. Mrs. LaMonte, a large woman and not unattractive, soon after also appeared. She intimated that she had been working in the east as a nurse and had lost trace of her husband, but had finally tracked him to this city. While here there seemed to be no trouble between the husband and wife, but they appeared to be rather a mysterious couple and Mr. LaMonte, it is said, was a trifle fast. It is said he drank quite heavily and was free with his money. They occupied furnished rooms on West Second street up to Thursday morning at 8 o'clock when they suddenly disappeared.

Mrs. LaMonte had been purchasing dry goods, silks and millinery in South Bend and on the morning of the disappearance had gone to the store of McLean, Baird & Co. It is probable that other South Bend houses also suffered. On Wednesday Mrs. LaMonte secured a gold watch and two chains in all worth over $60 in this city. She said she desired to take them home for examination. The goods have disappeared with the couple. Early in the week Mr. LaMonte was in the DeCocker tailoring establishment and purchased a suit of clothing. He made a payment but the concern is out about $15. It is said that there are a number of other creditors about the city who are anxious to locate Mr. and Mrs. LaMonte.

BOOS

Invested by a young man or young woman well, in our opinion, pay ten times better than any life insurance policy. We have a proposition on file that will pay 100 per cent per annum on an investment of $100 and upwards, payable at $10 a month. We know that we have a good proposition in Towle's first addition and our difficulty is not to convince you, but to get the facts to you. Now, won't you give us an opportunity of telling you our story? It won't take long, it will be interesting. If you cannot make it convenient to come to our office, write us and we will send a representative to call at your home at any time that is most convenient to you. Address, or see us at once, John A. Johnson, room 1 Tribune block.

King James and the Sirloin.

Though the truth of the story that King James I of England once knighted a loin of beef is disputed, the house in which he is said to have been conferred is pointed out, as well as the table on which he struck his lay. The scene of the historic jest lies between Hyde park and Chingford, near London. It is a curious house with many low-pitched ceilings and a fine garden with fruit trees of great size. It was on his return from one of his hunting expeditions in Epping forest that the British Solomon is said to have given practical proof of his favor for the roast beef of old England.

About Hamlet's Press Center.

The vigilant Turkish press censor detects that the Bible shall be so revised that the cry which St. Paul heard in the vision of Macedonia, but from "the Macedonia of Rakhili and Mosaitz." A few years ago the Turkish censor demanded that "Macedonia" be substituted for "Armenia" in the Bible circulated in the empire, and it is said on good authority that one of these astonishing words of the apostle of the Gentiles was lost by because he found therein the symbol "ISO," which he was confident was a revolutionary cipher meaning "Hamid II. is assassinated."

Still Supreme.

"The second son of President Harfing of Yale is a Knickerbocker, and he is whatever is going forward among the youngsters and always takes the principal place in any game. His mother was greatly comforted the other day, therefore, on going into the nursery where the children were playing church, to find that the oldest boy was officiating at the pulpit, and that where the other had gas, The "minister" replied: "Oh, He's in the other room. He's God."

Wasted Effort.

It was in the summer at a far-away resort and the clergyman on this particular Sunday was very much in earnest and very young. He got up and preached strongly in the heat to twelve old women, two decrepit men, and four children on the monotonous subject of playing golf on the Lord's day—and there weren't any links within ten miles at that.

LIGHT AND HEAVYWEIGHT.

Is It Right the Fat Man Should Pay for Excess of Flesh.

The Swedish government is about to impose a tax at a fixed rate per pound on all persons weighing over 125 pounds. The fat man, it is held, gets more than his equitable share of the good things of life and should pay for the extra space, air and edibles he consumes. This leads a railway contemporary to argue that it is inequitable to charge the same price for carrying a 100-pound passenger, occupying single-seat space, as for a 300-pound individual requiring twice as much room. Passenger rates, it is held, should be fixed by the pound. Excess weight of baggage is charged for, why not excess weight of passenger? The trunk is less important and requires less care than its owner. But the proposal has been received with universal favor. The jollity of the corpulent man is entitled to recognition in railroading, serving as it does to lessen the grumbling caused by late trains or other defective service.

Wife of the Barber.

A bald-headed man sat in the barber's chair and wearily listened to the bald-headed barber, who urged him to try a hair tonic manufactured on the premises.

"We guarantee it to sprout hair on the baldest head," he babbled.

"Then why don't you use it on your own?" demanded the customer.

"Because the boss won't let me. He wants me to leave my head alone, so he can point me out as a 'before using' exhibit. My brother is the 'after using' man. He's not in just now, but you ought to see his hair!" And the barber winked at the other customer.

"Corner Lot Bill."

Some folks are without reverence. There were men in the '30s and '40s who called William B. Astor "Corner Lot Bill." It was the Astor practice to hold on to corner lots. Almost down to the present hour it was a habit of real estate men to say, when seeing the corners vacant: "Astor! He sold the barrier for improvement, knowing that every brick put in an inside house enhances the value of his corners."—New York Press.

Tornado Loss.

The months of greatest tornado frequency in the United States, as shown by the reports of Lieut. John Finley of the United States Signal Corps, are May, April, June and July in the order named. The hours of greatest frequency during the day are from 3:30 to 5 p. m., just after the hot, hot part of the day, when where the ascending air currents are most liable to meet cooler descending ones.

Demand for Harvest Hands.

Kansas will need nearly 7,000 more harvest hands this year than have ever been required since the establishment of the state free employment bureau.

REMEDY FOR HAY FEVER.

After Trying Other Treatments Hyomei was Used With Perfect Success.

Prior to the discovery of Hyomei, the only advice a physician could give to a hay fever patient was to go away from home; but now any one who expects the disease, can, if Hyomei is used, stay at home without fear of the annual attack of sneezing, watery eyes, and other discomfort.

J. F. Forbes, a well known western railroad man, whose home is at Muscoda, Neb., writes, "I have never had relief from any remedy for hay fever, even temporarily, until I discovered the merits of Hyomei. I will always recommend it whenever occasion requires."

There is no offensive stomach dosing when Hyomei is used. It is a reliable remedy for the cure of all diseases of the respiratory organs and is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, so that the air taken into the throat and lungs is like that of the White Mountains or other health resorts where hay fever is unknown.

C. Crossley & Co. who have the local agency for Hyomei, advise all who are subject to hay fever to begin its use two or three weeks before the time of the annual appearance of this disease and thus prevent the attack. If however, Hyomei is not used until the sneezing and other disagreeable symptoms have shown themselves, it is necessary to use the treatment more frequently, at least, half a dozen times daily, and Hyomei Balm should be rubbed into the nostrils both morning and night.

The fact that C. Crossley & Co. are to refund the money to any hay fever sufferer who uses Hyomei without success, should inspire confidence in its power to effect a cure.

We have at last made the discovery which has baffled the world for years, and have perfected a preparation that will destroy the hair root and prevent the growth of hair on the face, neck, shoulders or arms, and that too, without blistering or injuring the most delicate skin.
Our preparation is a liquid, and is so prepared that it can be applied by the ordinary person without any danger of blistering or injuring the most delicate skin. It is not a powder, nor a paste, but a liquid, and is so prepared that it can be used by any person, and any one can use the other in the parlor. Well, we have tried it on our own faces, and we know that it does what we claim for it, and we know that it will do what we claim for it, and we know that it will do what we claim for it, and we know that it will do
