To-day's Scheduled Games.

Marion at South Bend.

Wheeling at Evansville.

Fort Wayne took the final game of the series yesterday by a score of 8 to 1 and again forced the Greens into fourth place. The contest was evenly waged with the pitching battle and fielding honors equally divided between the two teams. Each club made five hits and both Schafer and Carbinier received perfect support, their team mates playing an errorless game.

From an artistic standpoint yesterday's game was the sharpest and cleanest of the season. Sensationalism was lacking, but the pretty work of the pitchers and the perfect judgment of the men in the field tended to make the contest fully as interesting as a game in which wonderful one hand stops and seemingly impossible catches were made after long runs. Both Schafer and Carbinier were in form and pitched magnificent ball. The South Bender being hit in only one inning—the second—when luck sided the railroaders and the latter keeping the locals, hits confined to the first, eighth and ninth innings.

The pretty contest was full of pleasant surprises and the fan who will take the time to study the summary of the contest will learn that the game was played in one hour and 11 minutes, that in seven innings only 21 men faced Schafer and that only one batter reached first base, that man, Linder, being hit by pitched ball in the seventh. The only disagreeable feature of the contest was Umpire Kinsella's decision in the first when he called Cogswell out at second.

South Bend scored her only run in the first inning. After two men were down, Sager hit to left for a single, Cogswell was passed and Groeshow repeated Sager's act of sending the ball out for a safety. "Aunt Lil" scored. With prospects bright for another run, Kussel declared Cogswell out at second.

Railroaders Made Threes.

Hopke opened Fort Wayne's second inning with a long fly to center which Anderson caught after a pretty run. Then followed hits by Myers, Arthur, Sloat and Carbinier, the first three named going over the rubber. Anderson made a desperate effort to catch Sloat's Texas leaguer but just got his fingers under the ball. Had he landed it he would have been in a position to retire four men if such a play was possible. The official score and summary was as follows:

Caught Between Innings.

Stanley Arthur made his first hit in six games yesterday.

Schafer's work showed that he has rounded into form and that he can hold his own with any pitcher in the league.

"The best six games of baseball I ever saw" said President Mantner, of Fort Wayne, "were the South Bend-Fort Wayne contest of this week. The two teams played great ball."

Cogswell was there with his triple yesterday. "Old Reliable" was hit by a pitched ball in the fourth inning but he didn't want to walk. The "Dean," however, told him to take the initial jack.

Mantner, of Fort Wayne, tried to arrange a deal with Manager Grant, of the Greens, yesterday by which he was to secure the services of Schafer. The deal, however, failed to come to a head and "Skipe" will remain with the Greens. It will take a pretty sum of money to buy the South Benders release.

Manager Lindsay, of the Anderson Baseball association, defunct, from recent developments, got more out of the baseball team than even the ball players knew of. As a result of some work which would appear to be not exactly legitimate Manager Haldeman is now faced with a bill of about $150 for back board in the Grand hotel at Anderson. Three Grand Rapids players, who were left at Anderson when the team left town, found guilty at Anderson of the charge of beating board bills. The evidence introduced in court by the players was to the effect that each of them had paid the board bill to Manager Lindsay, but Manager Lindsay, acting as treasurer for Grand Rapids baseball team, gave no receipts, and three of the defendants had nothing to show that they had paid the bills.

AMBITION OF "JIMMY" BARTON.

Central League Ball Player Will Enter the Priesthood.

Not many people know that James Barton, the sensational little shortstop of the Grand Rapids Central league baseball team, will discard the uniform of a ball player for the robes of the priesthood.

If inquiry should be made among baseball players of the Central league, all would say that Barton, one of the most popular men in the league, is a good boy and that many of the players wish they were up to his work, physically, morally and intellectually.

Barton plays ball for the money in it, but at the same time he plays as though he was on fire and his work is always one of the features of the game. He is the smallest player in the Central league and one of the smartest. It is not in him to make a run of bad plays, and few errors are chocked against him. When he leaves the diamond he goes directly his hotel and rests. He is temperate in all things respite of some during which has taken in a game of baseball. He is a total abstainer from intoxicating liquors, and does not even partake of beer. He is a fine fellow, some overenthusiastic baseball fans wanted to take Barton "for an outing." He would not go and the men who had proposed to "show him the elephant" inquired if he was trying to be a saint. The answer was quickly resented by other players, for they respect Barton.

In his room and occasionally on trains, Barton reads good books and especially those concerning his religious faith. His ambition is to enter the priesthood of the Roman Catholic church.

He has been saving his baseball earnings for three years, and when the present season ends will probably enter a preparatory school. Barton's integrity is not questioned.

CONDENSED BASEBALL NEWS.

Pacific Coast League Wants to Join Class A.

When Manager Morley speaks for the Pacific coast league in the meeting with the leaders of the National association of Minor Baseball leagues he will demand the admission of the Pacific Coast league as it now stands; that it be allowed to draft players from the weaker ones, and the allowing of a high salary limit on the coast.

The body of Ed Delehanty, the Washington baseball player, who was drowned in the Niagara river near Buffalo was taken to Cleveland, O., yesterday. The funeral services will be held this morning at the Church of the Immaculate conception, and will be in charge of Mgr. Thorpe. Orders for floral tributes from the leagues in the American league have been sent to Cleveland.

The trouble in the Philadelphia Athletics' camp between Connie Mack and Rube Waddell over the latter's tendency to wander away and to pitch games for small, independent clubs has been adjusted. Waddell has signed an agreement to play exclusively for the Athletics and keep in good condition.

The New York baseball club of the National league received a second restraining order to prevent Norman Elsenfeld, the New York American league club's shortstop, from playing. The order was served on Elsenfeld last night, and means that he cannot play until the order is vacated.

The highest priced player in baseball at present is said to be Fusey Donovan of the St. Louis Cardinals, his salary for this year being $6,000, of which $1,000 came for signing his contract.

THE CENTRAL LEAGUE DIAMOND.

Teams on the Circuit Are Fast Bunching Themselves.

The teams in the Central league are fast bunching themselves. The leaders are not carrying victories around in their vest pockets, neither does the pennant winner know who it is. The question is becoming more and more uncertain each day. There are now but 12½ points between the Ft. Wayne leaders and the Grand Rapids team which is now in second place, and there is no occasion for any one of the eight to get discouraged.

Wheeling is in a fair way to become baseball news. The six strikers who on the home grounds from Grand Rapids and Marion aroused more enthusiasm than has been in evidence there at a baseball way for many years. This was shown, to some extent at least, in the unusual large attendance at the last Marion game on Tuesday, and the general inquiry all over the town was, "Did Wheeling win?" The newspaper offices were besieged with telephone calls. Not one-third as many calls were received at the offices for any other game of the season.

If the Hoosier city can continue its present good work and crowd itself into the first division, Wheeling will be up and away the best ball town in the Central league. Already it is that in point of holiday attendance that city having carried off the Decoration day and Fourth of July honors.

No More Boxing at Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., July 11.—Mayor McLane announced last night that he would not, during his term as chief magistrate of the city, issue a permit for a boxing or sparring contest. This means there will not be any authorized prize fighting here during the next four years.

Jockey Maher Seriously Hurt.

London, July 11.—Danny Maher, the American jockey, may not live as the result of injuries he received today in an automobile collision. He is lying now at Caterham hospital, with a fracture at the base of the skull.

THE SCORE IN TO-DAY'S CENTRAL LEAGUE GAME

LOCAL MEN WIN FAME

SUCCESS ACHIEVED BY SOUTH BEND MUSICIANS.

HASLANGER GETS BIG OFFER

Noted Baritone to Sing With Thomas' Chicago Orchestra—Hit Made by Four Hoosiers — Achievements of Mrs. Arcaro.

South Bend recently has produced a number of musical artists who are now reaping in New York, Chicago and elsewhere the reward for study at home.

Among the first of these to leave for larger fields was Louis F. Haslanger, a baritone, whose fundamental work was done here several years under Prof. W. Preston Mackinney. Going to New York he won among over 200 contestants the single free scholarship offered by George Hawet for five years' study and, besides constant work as a soloist in New York city, he has 80 concerts booked for next season. His most recent achievement is a contract with the Thomas Chicago orchestra for a tour of two weeks as soloist at a salary of $250 per week. The New York Herald, Chicago Tribune and other metropolitan dailies speak of Mr. Haslanger's work and prospects in terms of high praise.

Achievements of Hoosier Orchestra.

For the last year four Indiana men have been making an excellent record in Chicago at the Cafe Morris. Two of these are from South Bend, one from Mishawaka and another from some other part of the state. They compose a Hoosier orchestra of four pieces, violin, clarinet, cello and piano. Orville Barker leads the orchestra with the violin; Charles F. Hansen is pianist, both from South Bend, and George Cello, formerly of Mishawaka, is cellist. Musical critics and students of Chicago drop into the Cafe Morris to listen and to hear their exquisite music and one of the management of the Fine Arts building and Studebaker theater pronounce it the best and highest class music of its kind in that city. All these young men are continuing their studies and paying and paving their way to further greater triumphs. Messrs. Haslanger and Barker are spending the summer with their parents in this city.

Record of Mrs. Arcaro.

The last South Bend student to achieve distinction in the musical profession is Mrs. Flavia Arcaro, also a local pupil of Mr. MacHenry, whose third year with opera has begun in Grand Rapids, Michigan, where she will be remembered, was engaged last at the Oliver hotel with her husband, Antonio Arcaro, and played popular music for the guests of the hotel during the dinner and supper hours besides filling occasional concert engagements. She is now prima donna contralto of the Terrace Garden Opera company, of New York city.

Mrs. Arcaro is under the special management of Tams for a period of three years and has a contract to that effect. The management expects much of her in this time. She has the great number of featured roles of any one in the company. Among them are Rosario, in the opera of that name; Angelo in "Amorita", Paul Jones in the opera of that name and she will sing for salary $50 per week, which is considered very good for a beginner.
