TOMLINSON BILL MUST BE CHANGED

MEASURE IN PRESENT SHAPE CANNOT PASS.

SENATE HOLDING IT UP

Interest Shown in Position Taken by Gov. Marshall in Regard to Sunday Baseball Legislation—Appropriations Take Time.

The Tribune's Special Service.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 1.—If the county option law is repealed it will be necessary first to make a lot of changes in the Tomlinson bill, the repeal measure which is now before the senate. This bill has passed the house but the senate is held it up in spite of the frantic effort of the supporters of the measure to bring it to a vote.

It looks like almost all of this entire work will be consumed by both houses of the legislature in the consideration of the general appropriation bill, though the bill is not yet before either house. The senate finance committee and the house ways and means committee have been holding separate session and hearing the representatives of the various state institutions and departments as to their needs for the next two years, but neither committee has finished the work it has before it. The house committee is in session 12 members are out of the house and when the finance committee meets it takes out of the senate chamber nine members. So neither house can do much without them.

The committees have practically agreed on a part of the appropriations, that part which is to be given to the various insane hospitals. The central hospital for the insane at Indianapolis asks for $300,000 annually and $90,000 for specific purposes, of this sum $45,000 will be spent for the erection of an amusement hall. The northern, at Logansport, will get $165,000 annually and $56,000 specific.

The senate is still wrangling over the governor's veto the Lisbon superior court bill, the Gary superior court bill and the Rogue bill giving Clay and Morgan counties separate circuit courts. The Hand public accountings bill was also passed, the senate concurring in practically all the house amendments which give the governor control of the accounting bureau.

The Bland bill for a superior court at Linton was the first to pass, the vote before 29 to 15. Senator Gaston voted against the measure at the request of the governor. The senate recedded from 105 position in declining to concur in the house amendments to the Merchants' association public account, but bill by a vote of 37 to 9 is now goes to the governor for his approval.

A bill introduced by Senator Kistler at the request of the secretary of state, fixing fees to be charged for official commissions was passed. The house bill legalizing Sunday baseball measure the Kinderhook bill to provide for trial by jury in contempt cases growing out of injunctions in labor disputes and was the only one to meet opposition. The minority committee report for the passage of the bill was adopted, 46 to 44.

May Sign Ball Bill.

Many persons believe that Gov. Marshall will not sign any kind of a bill to legalize Sunday baseball, but the general opinion is that he will. It is pointed out by the former that in his veto message the governor said he would sign bill if it did not touch on the question of whether he thought such a law would be constitutional, but decided to veto it on other grounds. They say now that he has decided that a bill to legalize baseball on Sunday would be constitutional and that the governor will so state. However, the new bill is going along and will probably be enacted before the session closes.

Professional Juror Jolted.

The professional juror got a hard jolt Saturday when Senator Vanderburg's bill abolishing him. Tho have all seen the banger-on in the court room who is always there when court is in session. He is there, of course, in the hope that there will be a case that he is a jury and that he will be called to fill the place of some a man who can be bought or handled by any person who has business in court and in many instances he is there because some corporation or some other person interested in a case has paid him money to favor it in case he gets on the jury. This picture is not overdrawn in the least. The professional juryman is a menace to justice and always has been.

Just his bill goes into out of business. It was introduced in the senate by Senator Harlan, of this county, and it provides that whenever there is a vacancy on a jury the jury commissioners shall draw names by lot from the regular jury list and fill the place with the professional juryman who stands around and waits to be called. The lawyers of the state will appreciate what the new law means.

Stand by Schymer Bill.

The democrats of the house have decided to stand by the Schymer legislative apportionment bill, the democratic measure, and will try hard to have it passed. There is little danger, however, that any legislative apportionment will be passed at this session, because the house is democratic and the senate republican and no bill could be framed that would be satisfactory to both. The Schymer measure proposes a new arrangement of the counties of Vigo, Sullivan, Knox, Daviess, Martin, Pike, 1; Crawford, Perry and Spencer, 1; Clark, Scott and Washington, 1; Jennings, Ohio, Ripley and Switzerland, 1; Dearborn, Franklin and Union, 1; Jennings, Fayette, Franklin and Rush, 1; DeKalb, Lagrange and Steuben, 1; Hume—Marion county, 18, Vigo, 1; Allen, 3; St. Joseph, 3; Vanderburg, 2; Lake, 2; Delaware, 1; Madison, 2; Howard, 1; Hibbert, 1; Vigo and Vermillion, 1; Allen and Adams, 1; Lake and Newton, 1; Madison and Tipton, 1; Grant and Blackford, 1; Tippecanoe and Clinton, 1; Johnson and Bartholomew, 1; Lafayette and Jasper, 1; Clarke, 1; Cass and Carroll, 1; Green, Martin and Owen, 1; Knox and Pike, 1; Clay and Putnam, 1; Floyd, 1; Floyd and Harrison, 1; Huntington, 1; Huntington and Whitley, 1; Miami and Howard, 1; Clark, 1; Gibson, 1; Daviess, 1; Orange and Dubois, 1; Perry, 1; Spencer, 1; Ripley and Switzerland, 1; Fulton and Pulaski, 1; Jasper and
